QUICKER CRIMINAL JUSTICE IS URGED

MAZER LOSES MOTION TO CHANGE VENUE FOR TRIAL

Jury Will Be Drawn Immediately To Try Alleged Slayer Of Canton Publisher—Studer
Sentenced.

CANTON, O., Oct. 7.—The jury which will try Louis Mazer for the murder of Don R. Mellett will be drawn today.

The last obstacle to the trial was removed last Wednesday afternoon when Judge Edwin W. Diehl overruled a motion for a change of venue to take the case into an adjoining county.

Judge Diehl said: "I find nothing in the affidavits and exhibits to indicate that the defendants have been prejudiced. Motions in the Mazer case and the Rudner case will be overruled and exceptions allowed."

Both of the defendants were in court to receive the decision.

FORMER TELEGRAPH OPERATOR WITNESS IN M'PHERSON CASE

District Attorney Finds
New Evidence For Hearing

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—The preliminary hearing of Mrs. Anne Semple McPherson, her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, and Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sellaf, all charged with criminal conspiracy, will be resumed today.

While the militant evangelist was enjoying a respite from the rigors of the hearing yesterday, District Attorney Asa Keyes and his assistants were gathering new evidence with which to confront Mrs. McPherson, whom they claim perpetrated a gigantic hoax when she alleged she had been kidnapped and spirited away to Mexico while her follower thought she was drowned while swimming at Ocean Park last May.

The state attempted to prove that she was not kidnapped; that she was the companion of her former radio operator, Kenneth G. Ormiston, at Carmel subsequent to her disappearance from Ocean Park; and that she offered Mrs. Sellaf money as Ormiston's companion.

Another important witness for the prosecution was unearthed by the prosecution yesterday. He is F. A. Blivens, a former telegraph operator at Gila, Ariz. Blivens issued a statement in which he said a woman resembling Mrs. McPherson sent a telegram from his station to a man in Douglas, Ariz., on June 15, eight days before Mrs. McPherson made her reappearance. Blivens, a former telegraph operator, who was on the stand again today. Murchison was the first officer with which Mrs. McPherson talked after crossing the Mexican border. Following their conversation, Murchison said he returned to Mexico, where he unsuccessfully sought to check up Mrs. McPherson's story.

PROTESTS TAKING OF YOUTH'S LIFE

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Pleading that no crime could justify the taking of the life of a youth whose mind is not yet formed, Ernest K. Coulter, general manager of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty, has sent a letter to Governor Howard Gore, of West Virginia, urging that the life of Adam Burress, 15, of Welch, W. Va., be spared. Burress has been sentenced to hang for an assault upon a nine-year-old girl.

Coulter admitted knowing nothing of the case except what he had read in the newspapers. He said, however, to hang a fifteen-year-old boy would constitute a "retrogression to the tactics of the seventeenth century."

Coulter called the attention of Governor Gore to the laws of New York state, which recognizes juvenile delinquency as the only offense committed by children.

TRAIN FOR TEST

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Oct. 7.—The Belmont County dairy judging team, champion of Ohio, is in Columbus for final training before going to Detroit to participate in the National Dairy Exposition competition with other youngsters from all over the country.

The Belmont County team won the right to represent Ohio by a victory in a contest at the Ohio State Fair. The boys are all residents of the Barnesville district.

JUSTICE MARSHALL ASKS COMMON PLEAS JUDGES FOR ACTION

Wants Dockets Rid Of Untried Felony Cases
At Once

COLUMBUS, Oct. 7.—Declaring that "speedy criminal justice has become imperative," because of the "unbearably frequent" crimes committed, Chief Justice C. H. Marshall, of the Ohio supreme court here, today issued a proclamation to the common pleas judges throughout the state urging them to take prompt measures to clear the court dockets of untried felony cases as soon as possible.

He announced that, if the services of additional judicial officers are required in any county to speed up disposition of these cases, he will assign judges from other counties to help clear the dockets.

Chief Justice Marshall directed the attention of the judges to the "crimes of murder, robbery, burglary and personal assaults upon men and women which have become unbearably frequent throughout the country."

"The parties who commit these crimes appear to be without fear of the penalties provided by law," reads Marshall's proclamation.

"Evidently, this boldness and sense of security in wrongdoing arises out of the law's delays, supplemented often by the mistaken and unwarranted sympathy for criminals on the part of paroling and pardoning officers."

"An extraordinary situation calls for extraordinary action."

"It is high time that the trial and reviewing courts should give precedence to criminal cases, to the end that prompt, vigorous and effective action may be taken to rid society of these classes of criminals and that law-abiding citizens may realize and enjoy the protection and safety which the law contemplates."

"Murder is on the increase. Highway robbery, frequently accompanied by serious personal assaults, has made the highways of our state unsafe for travel after nightfall. Banks, mail trains and payroll messengers are frequently victims. No constitutional safeguards should be violated but speedy criminal justice has become imperative."

Marshall pointed out that his assertions have no application to some counties in Ohio.

THREE INJURED IN WRECK ON PENNSY

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 7.—Two persons were seriously injured and eight more slightly hurt when two coaches of a Pennsylvania passenger train were derailed at Black Creek, four miles north of Cuba, in Cattaraugus County, this morning.

The accident occurred at 7 o'clock this morning. A broken rail was the cause.

The two derailed coaches toppled into the old Genesee canal bed. The injured were taken from the wrecked car and removed to Cuba for treatment.

PLANS TO ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT SOON

BELGRADE, Oct. 7.—The engagement of Mary Landon Baker and Count Boshdar Pouritch, Serbian secretary to the Jugo-Slav foreign office, will be announced on Saturday, it was reliably reported here today.

The Chicago heiress has been in Belgrade for several days and has almost constantly been seen in the company of Pouritch, who at one time represented his country in the consular office in Chicago.

OUCH! COUNT IS HE WHO GOT SLAPPED

VIENNA, Oct. 7.—Count Salm von Hoogstraeten today is the center of a new society scandal. His uncle, Count Erich Salm, recently filed suit against the monarchist leader, Prince Johann Lichtenstein, for slander.

As a result, one of the prince's adherents met young Salm on the street and slapped his face. A row ensued and now the count threatens suit against his assailant, whose name has not been made public.

Count Salm first gained fame, as far as America is concerned, when he wooed and won Millicent Rogers, New York heiress. They later were separated.

Misery Follows Floods

INCREASED RISE OF RIVER STOPS RAIL TRAFFIC; ONE DEAD

BEARDSTOWN, Ill., Oct. 7.—A new flood stage record was set here today when the Illinois river reached a stage of 25.6 feet, six inches higher than the crest of the devastating flood of 1922. Eleven hundred additional acres of land are under water, following crumbling late last night of the Kelly Lake levee north of this city.

BEARDSTOWN, Ill., Oct. 7.—Misery, privation and desolation stalk the water-stricken streets of Beardstown today as the flood waters rush into the city with renewed fury, tying up railroad traffic and causing serious breaks in gas, telephone, electric light and water mains.

Main streets are teeming with boats of all description, the only available method of transportation. Storms and rains caused the Illinois river to rise to a height untopped in the annals of this city.

Desperate fights of this city's flood waters swept over the tracks making all rail communication with St. Louis impossible and tying up the tracks to Frederick, Ill., on the west line.

The river today rose above the 25.1 foot mark of 1922, making the current flood the most serious in the history of the city.

Death entered the flooded region today when Mrs. C. E. Soule died of pneumonia, contracted as a result of the inundation, physicians stated.

Chill winds from the east added to the misery. That the entire city will be under water within a few hours is the prediction of Forecaster Hayes, of St. Louis.

The peak of the rise will occur Saturday, it was stated. Every business house in the city is flooded.

TREASURER OF BUTLER COUNTY PAYS SHORTAGE IN ACCOUNTS

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 7.—Alleged shortages totaling $1,378.25 are included in the findings for recovery contained in the report, made public here today by State Auditor Joseph Tracy, covering an examination of the records of Butler County public offices.

Stanley P. Kinzer, who, as county treasurer, was held responsible for the alleged deficits, is credited in the report with having paid the $1,378.25 after the audit was determined by State Examiner R. H. Smith, who conducted the examination.

The examination covered the period from October 13, 1923, to September 1, 1925. The alleged shortages consisted of a cash deficit of $1,097.24 and deficits in the county's general tax fund amounting to $281.01.

"Kinzer has had a very unfortunate administration during the period covered by this report," declared Examiner Smith.

"He was absent from office for over a year, due to serious illness. The system of permitting four or five persons to handle the money has been disastrous under this administration."

Smith, in his report, held that "the hundreds of dollars which disappeared" could only be charged against the treasurer.

Yanks Favorites In Betting—Pennock To Meet Sherdel

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7.—A single score in the last half of the fourth frame gave the St. Louis Cardinals a one-run lead on the New York Yankees in the fifth World Series game here this afternoon.

Pennock tossed out Hornsby at first but Bottomley doubled to left and scored on Bell's single. Babe Ruth distinguished himself on the second out by taking Hafey's fly with one hand by reaching over the barrier to the left field stands.

Ruth, who broke up yesterday's ball game and set a lot of new world records, grounded out on first appearance today and walked the second time up.

FIRST INNING

THIRD INNING
New York: Severid hit a long fly to Hafey. Sherdel made a wonderful glove-hand stabbing catch of Pennock's low liner. Coombs out. O'Farrell to Bottomley. No runs, no hits, no errors.

St. Louis: Koenig made a nice stop of Sherdel's rap back of second and retired him at first. Holm was called out on strikes. Ruth raced over in left center and took Southworth's fly. No runs, no hits, no errors.

FOURTH INNING
New York: Koenig flied to Hafey. Ruth teased Sherdel for base on balls. On the hit and run Meusel flied to Hafey, who accurately return made Ruth scurry back to first. Sherdel tried to pick Ruth off first. Gehrig fanned swinging at a slow ball. No runs, no hits, no errors.

For today's game, in fact, they ruled a 6 to 5 favorite, largely because the puissant Mr. Pennock was due to labor in the vineyard of the Yanks. Herbert left-handed.

MINERS REJECT PEACE PROPOSALS

LONDON, Oct. 7.—The miners delegate conference faced a difficult alternative today when reports from the district vote on the government's peace proposals showed that they had been rejected.

This action left the delegates without a policy and the cabinet will withdraw its plan if it is not accepted.

An order continuing the strike would be disastrous, it was felt, and also ineffective, as the men are returning to the pits in large numbers, and yet the leaders hesitate to act against the vote.

The delegates met in Kingsway hall to discuss the situation.

RE-APPRAISAL ADDS MUCH TO VALUATION

CANTON, O., Oct. 7.—Valuation of Canton property is increased approximately $60,000,000 and that of Stark County is boosted $10,000,000 by reappraisal of real estate, according to tentative figures made public today by Miss Ruth Kaufman, county auditor.

This increase makes possible reduction of the Canton city tax rate from 24.8 mills to 20.9 mills and, at the same time, adds $136,000 to the fund available for operating expenses of the city and $369,000 to the funds for operating expenses of the city schools.

CHANGE OF MIND SAVES KING'S LIFE

BUCHAREST, Oct. 7.—King Ferdinand of Roumania miraculously escaped serious injury and possibly death today when, at the last minute, he changed his mind about boarding a river boat on which he had intended to take passage. A few minutes later, the boat's boiler exploded, killing two persons.

Many passengers leaped into the Danube River and swam ashore. King Ferdinand took the next boat.

SUN SHINES WHEN ST. LOUIS MOURNS

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7.—The sun came out bright and radiant again today, flooding this baseball-mad town with a warmth somewhat more comfortable than yesterday's snappy atmosphere. While the weather here is subject to instant changes and many clouds grow where none had grown but a few minutes before, the predictions of perfect weather for today appeared to have been borne out.

ROYAL VISIT WILL RESULT IN SWEDISH
GALLERY IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Visit to America recently by the democratic Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf of Sweden and his charming wife, Princess Louise, is to result in the establishment of a permanent Swedish art gallery in Chicago, culture center of this country's mid-west, where many residents are of Swedish descent.

During the visit of the titled visitors to Chicago an art exhibition, made possible by the courtesy of western collectors, was visited by the prince and attracted wide attention among Chicago Swedes.

Chicago and its suburbs already hold a large number of paintings from the leading Swedish artists of all times and a drive for gifts for the proposed museum will be launched shortly.

In Evanston, Ill., there are several portraits by Anders Zorn, including a full-length portrait of this city's world-known social leader, Mrs. Potter Palmer. Another Zorn is that of Ira Nelson Morris, former United States minister to Sweden.

There are numerous other portraits by Zorn made at the time he visited America more than thirty years ago. Chicago boasts several originals and numerous copies of the art of Christian Erickson, noted sculptor of the little northern land.

Other Swedish artists and sculptors are well represented in the mid-west and northwest, early settlers in America having brought to this country some excellent examples of Swedish art. In Illinois and Minnesota wealthy Americans of Swedish descent have recently purchased paintings representative of the best in the modern art of Sweden.

A special room in the Art Institute here has been proposed as the site of the Swedish art center. The temporary exhibit arranged in Chicago in honor of the Crown Prince will shortly be taken down and when the paintings and other exhibits are returned to their owners, requests will be made for gifts to the proposed permanent exhibit. A generous response is expected by backers of the movement.

Members of the sophomore class at Central High School effected organization for the school year 1926-27 with election of officers at an assembly Wednesday.

Margaret Neeld was elected president; Lucy Stout, vice president; Marian Moser, secretary; Frances Marshall, treasurer and Robert Adair, class reporter.

Senior, junior and sophomore classes have each organized according to annual custom while the freshman class does not elect officers until the second school semester.

CLEANLINESS ABOVE STYLISHNESS

By HEDDA HOYT

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—This article is not written for the use of the well-groomed woman with whom cleanliness and daintiness is inborn. Unfortunately there are many persons who might benefit by the following suggestions which were inspired by a tour through one of New York's smartest department stores where the elite and near-elite rub elbows, gowned in the height of fashion but emanating aromas combining perfumes, hair-oils, ancient dress-shields and perspiration.

After a trip in a closely-packed elevator filled with women, one often emerges with a disrespect for the entire human race. Random hair-oils and gowns which reek with the odors of their soiled linings force one to believe that many women must depend upon a dab of perfume to cover unclean physical conditions. There is no reason why the human hair should emit an unpleasant odor. Oily hair requires frequent washing. Hair-oils combined with the natural oils emerging from the pores of the scalp become rancid and unless one washes the hair frequently it is better not to use them.

Dress-shields and underbodies of dresses should be cleaned whenever they are the least bit soiled. Many women will wear a dress an entire season without having it cleaned. The lining comes in contact with the body just as an undergarment does. One would not think of wearing an undershirt a season without washing it but one will wear a dress-lining until it is sick with bodily oils.

Perfumes applied to dresses and allowed to dry mingle their odors with sweaty physical odors and become most repugnant. Perfume should never be applied directly to the clothing but to the neck, the lobe of the ear or the chin. There are perfumes which sick with their sweetness. One should dislike having a friend who reeked of hyacinths from morn till night. Talcum powders, perfumed bath salts and faint toilet waters are far preferable to heavy perfumes although the person who keeps the body and clothing scrupulously clean does not even require these faint odors. The fresh smell of soap and water is quite sufficient. Let us remember that the human nose is a very sensitive organ and guard against being aromatically distasteful!

RUTH CALLED HIS SHOTS—HOMER OR NO COUNT

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7.—When Ruth went to left field after hitting his third home run, he gestured toward the bleachers as an indication of where his next hit was going. He was calling his shots. In other words, he was playing home run or no count.

Ruth's slow ball that Ruth waffled into the centerfield stands was a large laugh. The ball wasn't exactly slow; it was tedious.

Well, anyhow, the Cards found out who was NOT going to pitch during the next three games.

Ruth played absolutely no favorites. His first homer off Rhem was hit on a curve inside. His second off the same pitcher came on a slow ball, or whatever it was. The third, off Herman Bell, was off a fast ball.

Incidentally, his first cleared the right field walk right on the foul line. His second cleared the stands in right center and his third fell in the bleachers in dead center field.

Hoyt gained the easiest decision in the record of world series play. He pitched a bad ball game and won a perfectly good victory.

Funny what a difference a few hours can make. It was no trick at all to sleep in St. Louis last night.

At that, a lot of the boys have been guilty of wise cracks about Sportsman's park. No fans could have been fairer to a visiting club than the local addicts have been to the Yankees. They were absolutely sold on Ruth after he hit his second homer, and after he hit the third, the park was his.

Koenig, apparently, is a short stop who can go far to his right and not at all to his left. He gets everything in back of third base and misses everything around second.

If the Yanks win, and even the most biased observers are willing to grant now that this chance is by no means overemphasized, they will be the most unbalanced club that ever won a world's title. They have a shortstop who kicked them far and from a very difficult angle and a center fielder who couldn't throw a man out from the pitcher's box.

Coombs had a chance to throw a man out on a sacrifice fly to the immediate rear of the infield and made a very accurate throw to third base.

The Yanks ran the bases like the headless horseman of Ichabod Crane's fond fancy. Otherwise they would be scoring yet.

A playing manager can not think and play ball at the same time. When the Yanks finally were in front so far that all hope had fled John McGraw remarked: "If I were Rogers, I would rest O'Farrell now." But the man who had caught more than 145 games this season remained in the lineup to the end.

The second-guessers, in fact, enjoyed an excellent afternoon. Many of them felt that Hornsby had erred in removing Rhem at such an early moment, particularly with Hoyt going so badly. A second-guesser will be wrong one of these days and they'll simply have to close up all the haberdasheries.

L. Bell's stop that caught Ruth going the wrong way off third base was a Lulu. Either that or a Lillian.

CHANGES IN MONEY

The flat, round coins of today have withstood the test of centuries and yet they are relatively an innovation when one considers how long man has been using money.

Coins have not always been flat and round. There was a time when they were made in many odd shapes and at many different sizes. The first coins were crude lumps of metal bearing simple stamps. For the most part, these primitive coins were globular in general form, but they gradually became flatter and more circular. The absolute flatness of the two sides, so that all raised parts should wear uniformly, apparently was not a major consideration until relatively modern times.

Oriental mints produced most of the coins of odd shapes but Europe and even the United States offer curious specimens. Bar money is peculiar to Java and Ceylon where the denomination is determined not by the metal but by the size of the bar. Siam makes its money by beating out odd shapes from silver ingots. A certain species of Siamese money is called "bullet money."

Sweden, during the Seventeenth and Eighteenth centuries, made coins from large flat copper plates bearing several stamps and weighing as much as 48 pounds and ranging in diameter from one to two and a half feet. India continues to use square coins.

One of the most eccentric of coins is the Persian wire money. This currency is cut from wire in various shapes and sizes. It has been facetiously dubbed "fish-hook money."

THE SPIRIT OF '61

The nation is happy in the knowledge that the Grand Army of the Republic, meeting in annual convention in Des Moines, turned itself firmly against those influences that would have brought about its disbandment. It is pleased with the thought that this great organization, though dwindling steadily in numbers as death decimates its ranks, is still intact and carrying on.

The Grand Army of the Republic has been a vital factor in the affairs of the nation for so many years, and to feel it was no longer present would bring with it a feeling of emptiness.

There is no organization which will ever take its place. The American Legion comes to take up the work where the Grand Army is leaving it off, but the Grand Army has occupied a unique place in American history such as no organization ever has or will hold.

Back in the dark days of civil strife it was the boys in blue who bared their breasts to those forces that sought to destroy the Union, and who by their devotion and their sacrifice saved the Union.

For 60 years since that war these same boys, now grown gray and stooped with the years, have stood as the firm defenders of that Union which they saved, and have been for the nation a veritable bulwark of patriotism.

The years have cut their ranks. But time has not dimmed the enthusiasm, the patriotism, the indomitable will to uphold every worthwhile cause that is in the interests of a stronger Americanism and a better citizenship.

The Grand Army of the Republic still has many years of active service left before it. At Des Moines it declared its intention of going forward despite its fast thinning ranks.

In that decision the nation will rejoice, for the nation, were it to have its will, would have the Grand Army of the Republic continue on and on, with never a disbandment. It would have it go forward until the last man was left, and then let him have a convention all his own, a parade all his own, and let there sound in his ears the plaudits of his countrymen who can never forget the debt that is owing to that great host which under Lincoln, saved the Union and sounded the doom of slavery forever.

CROSS WORD PUZZLE SUBSTITUTE

Berliners are said to have dropped the cross-word puzzle to juggle with mathematics. A simple problem in arithmetic has engaged the attention of those who have idle time to dispose of to such an extent that the problem has become of "How Old is Ann."

The game is to ask one to set down the year of one's birth, to this add his age, the date of his marriage and the number of years married. The sum in every instance, no matter to whom applied, will be 3852. It does not take much to amuse some people, and when you couple it with something with reference to one's age, especially if the subject is a woman, it becomes thrilling. "There is nothing cabalistic about this problem, but at first sight it looks uncanny."

Spain's most recent revolution seems to have consisted of a right-about-face, that led right out of the league of nations.

FADS OF THE FAMOUS

Governor Vic DONAHEY

Governor Vic Donahey of Ohio has a hobby which has stood to good advantage on more than one occasion.

The Ohio executive can justly lay claim to being an excellent cook. Governor Donahey can bake pies, cakes, cookies, and all the other delicacies usually considered a woman's handiwork.

During the summer months when the governor and his family spend most of their time at their summer home, the governor holds sway in the kitchen. So far, he has managed to appease the appetites of his family, consisting of his wife and eleven children.

It has become a yearly custom and almost a tradition for Governor Donahey to "throw" a party for statehouse newspaper correspondents and their families.

Turtle soup has been the piece de resistance at these dinners given by the governor. No one but the governor himself is allowed in the kitchen on these occasions.

He not only prepares the entire meal for the fifty odd visitors, but usually bakes the pies for dessert and usually has some culinary surprise which he serves up for "immediate release" to the newspapermen.

Governor Donahey has been interested in cooks and kitchens ever since he was a boy. He says that he has stayed behind for

CHILD'S KNITTED SWEATER

To knit a slip-over sweater for a little girl between three and four years old, buy five balls of white and one ball of colored shetland bone needles and a pair of number three and one-half bone needles.

Back: With the three and one-half needles and colored yarn, cast on eighty-three sts. K four rows plain, four rows white, four rows of color, eight-rows of white. Continue with white, working in the following pattern: Row One: * K five, P one, repeat from * ending row K five. Row Two: * P five, K one, repeat from * ending row P five. Row Three: same as row one. Row Four: Same as row two. Row Five: Same as Row One. Row Six: Knit plain.

Repeat these six rows till work measures eleven inches from start, then increase one stitch at each end every other row three times. Next, cast on fifteen stitches at each end three times, then six stitches at each end for sleeves (191 sts). Continue pattern and when sleeves measure four inches at widest part, work first eighty-five sts. off onto a stitch holder and bind off twenty-one stitches for neck. On remaining eighty-five sts. start front.

INDIAN SUMMER

Probably no season of the year is so pregnant with serenity, beauty and mild color as is Indian Summer. Not too warm or cool—just moderate and peaceful.

Early falling of the leaves that have browned a little and sought the breast of Mother Earth; gentle winds that give a soft sound to the night air, after the sun has crept into its cot for the night—and then a full moon thrown in to emphasize the gold of it all!

What is so rare as a day of Indian Summer?

It's the hazy season when grays and shadows flounder among themselves. And now the late autumn flowers, silently in their gypsy garbs and toss perfumery to the mellow mists that have arisen early that they might kiss the morning rays of the sun and thus try to outdo the diamonds in the dew.

Like late middle life is this Indian Summer with its ripe perspective and clear vision.

A time when meditation may be given to the past storms and disappointments of the spring and summer. A time when the heart sits before the bright burning logs of the open fire and sees in each flame something that has been given out that has warmed and brightened another heart.

Glorious Indian Summer!

The forerunner days—whispering of frosts and ripening pumpkins, of happy evenings, of cool nights sparkled with stars, of hope—perhaps so long deferred—of the good and able things of life that have stayed behind for so long. Like love, perhaps.

If you haven't a philosophy of life, then Indian Summer can't mean anything but just a spoken phrase to you.

SIDELIGHTS

ON
Greene County History

PIONEER'S DRESS

"The hunting shirt of the early pioneer was generally made of linen, sometimes of coarse linen, and a few of dressed deer skin. These last were cold and uncomfortable in wet weather. The shirt and jacket were of the common fashion. A pair of drawers, or breeches, and leggings were the dress of the thighs and legs; a pair of moccasins answered for the feet much better than shoes. These were made of dressed deer skin.

"They were mostly made of a single piece, with a gathering seam along the top of the foot and another from the bottom of the heel, without gathers, as high as the ankle joint or a little higher. Flaps were left on each side to reach some distance up the legs. These were nicely adapted to the ankle and lower part of the leg by throngs of deer skin, so that no dust, gravel or snow could get within the moccasins.

"The moccasins in ordinary use cost but a few hours' labor to make. This was done by an instrument denominating a moccasin awl, which was made of the back spring of an old clasp knife. This awl with its buck-horn handle, was an appendage of every shot pouch strap, together with a roll of buckskin for mending the moccasins. This was the labor of almost every evening. They were sewed together and patched with deer skin throngs, or whangs, as they were commonly called.

"In cold weather the moccasins were well stuffed with deer's hair or dry leaves, so as to keep the feet comfortably warm; but in wet weather it was usually said that wearing them was "a decent way of going barefooted;" and such was the fact, owing to the spongy texture of the leather of which they were made.

"Owing to this defective covering of the feet, more than any other circumstance, the greater number of our hunters and warriors was afflicted with the rheumatism in their limbs. Of this disease they were all apprehensive in cold or wet weather, and therefore always slept with their feet to the fire, to prevent or cure it, as well as they could. The practice unquestionably had a salutary effect, and prevented many of them from becoming confirmed cripples in early life."

East Side - West Side

New York

By Jack O'Donnell

Rain always brings out the taxi parasites—young kids who ride the running boards of cabs on wet nights and prey on innocents.

The cab refuses to stop unless the prospective customer shows a flash of silver; and the urchin refuses to open the door unless he relieves you of the silver. It's pay as you enter and pay as you leave both.

Money buys most anything in Gotham—even a taxi on a bad night. The parasite is often in "caboots" with the driver, and splits fifty-fifty on the pre-fare he collects. Just a form of Broadway banditry. But one submits cheerfully to any hold-up for the sake of getting in out of the drizzle on nights after the theater.

Starvation is no longer popular among literary and artistic beginners in New York. For every dreamy Bunthorne in Greenwich Village, there are a hundred intent young souls who set their alarms for seven a. m. and trudge bravely forth each morning to a hundred diverse niches in the throbbing world of business.

They turn their hand to whatever pursuit offers, a weekly pay envelope. They sell books, they write cinema subtitles, they edit house organs, they paint greeting cards, they work in libraries, in courts, in the city rooms of newspapers, in the research department of banks.

Commerce feeds art under the skies of Manhattan. In every city block, in every office building, at the other end of every phone call, is a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

At nine o'clock a young artist sits down to a drawing board in an advertising agency. He sketches a layout for a shaving soap ad. At nine o'clock a young writer sits down to a desk in a publicity office and writes a blurb for a movie actress.

They do the bidding of their boss. They take phone calls. They talk shop. They speak the language of commerce. Slowly the long day comes to a close. At six o'clock, when the charwomen creep into the office and start emptying waste baskets and shining cuspidors, these young workers drift away into the subway. Later—if only one might look into the myriad little rooms and apartments to which they have returned! Here's the artist—the one who did the soap ad! He's bent over a canvas. His eyes are bright although he knows that in a few hours the alarm will ring again. Here's the writer—the burb monger. Clad in slippers and bathrobe, he burns the midnight maza over a few scrawly lines of verse, dearer than life itself.

Thus does the great city feed the faithful—feeds their bodies through the bright, clicking noons, feeds their spirit in the soft night.

New York is the Paris of North America.

Women make annual pilgrimages from cities as far removed as New Orleans to the shrine of the shopkeepers—Broadway and 34th Street.

The Fire Department closed Macy's the other day—there were too many women per square inch of floor space for the public weal. The doors remained closed for one hour until the jam had been relieved.

There was a time when the American woman, including the New York damsel, bowed down and worshipped the Paris frock. There is still something just a little holy about the French creation, but it is fast losing ground. At a recent sale, in an ultra-exclusive women's shop, it was the New York models rather than the importations that caused the greatest stir and made the biggest dents in famous checking accounts.

The Theatre

Cecil B. DeMille, noted director and producer, has completed selection of actors to portray the Twelve Apostles in his story of the life of Christ, "The King of Kings."

Judas Iscariot will be played by Joseph Schildkraut; Peter by Ernest Torrence; John the beloved disciple by Joseph Striker and Matthew the publican by Robert Edeson. DeMille wanted Charlie Ray for the role of John, but was unable to complete negotiations for the borrowing of Ray from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

The recent staging of Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" in the great natural amphitheater known as "Hollywood Bowl" was the most pretentious experiment in outdoor theatricals ever attempted, according to officials of the Hollywood Art League, which sponsored the show. Many stage and screen stars played in the production. William Farnum took the role of "Marc Antony." James Gordon had the part of "Caesar." R. D. McLean, "Brutus." Gareth Hughes, William Humphreys and Lionel Belmore played "Octavius Caesar," "Cassius," and "Cato" respectively. Belle Bennett was in the role of "Portia" and Julian Johnston was the baccanal. Over 50,000 persons witnessed the two performances.

"Wolf's Clothing" the Arthur

Konrad Veidt, German actor, who first attracted attention in the United States by his work in "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari" will play Louis XI in "The Vagabond Lover" for United Artists. Barrymore will be also supported in the picture which is based on the life of Francois Villon, the mediant French poet, who was contemporary with Chaucer, by Marceline Day, Henry Victor, Mack Swain, Slim Sumner, Lucie Beaumont, Rose Dione, Otto Matheson and others.

PLENTY OF NUTS

LONDON, O., Oct. 6—Hickory and walnuts are plentiful in Madison County according to farmers and youths of the rural districts. Stained hands are the vogue in school rooms and teachers are reporting many youngsters "playing hook" to gather in the crop.

Modish Mitzi

IT'S NOT THAT MITZI IS ROMANTIC!

lay V. Jav

Wearing a sort of diving helmet of black satin Mitzi prepares for a dampish day of sightseeing. She has come to Niagara to see the Falls, of course, but also to see the brides. Not that she's romantic, but that brides have such smart clothes!

The bride in the first sketch has added an appropriate accessory to her costume by wearing one of the new sea flower Outnourries. It is in tinted pearl effect with brine-sprayed foliage of silver. Mitzi admires it almost as much as she does the scenery.

Preparing earnestly for the coming trip to the Cave of the Winds Mitzi diligently powders her nose with her new collapsible shaving brush powder puff that hides itself in a tiny stick of galalith. It impresses the Goofer as a gallant though useless gesture.

"Another bride," thinks Mitzi and feels her interest in the scenery dwindle. Because after all the Falls have been here quite a while, but the little tan hat with feathers of ribbon for trimming is about as new as anything can be and scenery enough for her!

PROPOSED LEAGUE EXPECTED TO HELP SCHOOL ATHLETICS

Better Understanding Will Be Promoted Is Belief

Formation of a high school athletic association among schools of Western Ohio to be known when organization is completed, as five Miami Valley League of High School Athletics, is expected to promote a better feeling and understanding in athletic relations between high schools in this section that will eventually become members.

Such is the intention of its sponsors, according to Principal Spencer Shank, of Central High School, who has been named secretary of the league. Announcement of the proposed league was made by Principal Shank Wednesday.

It is proposed to confine membership for the present to seven teams including Xenia Central High. Other teams will be invited later to join and the names of Eaton and Bellefontaine being mentioned, it is declared that the latter city is outside the narrow circle of schools that will become members and in order to maintain a clear organization, it is planned to keep the league's territory as compact as possible.

The object of the new athletic body is to make possible a regular schedule of athletic events which will later include track and field events as well as basketball and football. Under the proposed by-laws, there will be at least five games on the schedule of all league members in every class of sport. From these, records would be compiled and championships in the different sports awarded.

Another meeting of the temporary organization will be held at Troy about December 1, or as soon as possible after the close of the football season when permanent organization can be effected.

The league cannot function until the fall of 1927 and then probably only in football as nearly all the teams in this section of the state have already arranged for basketball and football schedules this season and many are possibly under contracts for next year.

Baseball is not mentioned in the future activities of the league. It is believed that few schools would games that in the schedule of the league in that spring when the weather is uncertain and few would be able to complete season schedules.

The new organization is designed as a progressive step among western Ohio high schools. Other leagues are being formed and the hope cannot be scouted that it may be possible not only to decide championships in the various leagues but to determine the final championships in the various sports by arranging contests between league winners.

THIRTY THREES TO GREET PORTSMOUTH IN HOME BAILIWICK

Face to face with the necessity of putting more punch in the defensive and additional defensive power in the line, the Thirty-Threes intend to engage in stiff scrimmage rehearsals Thursday and Friday evenings at Cincinnati Ave. Park in preparation for the return game with the Portsmouth Presidents at Portsmouth Sunday afternoon.

Incessant rains interfered with the eleven's regular practice Tuesday night so that the rehearsals were postponed until Thursday and Friday. All players intending to make the trip to Portsmouth must report for practice on these two nights at 7 o'clock, it is announced.

A bus has been chartered to convey the squad to Portsmouth leaving Xenia between 7:30 and 8 a. m. Sunday. If as many as fifteen others wish to accompany the team, a second bus will probably be engaged. These fans should first leave their names at the Tilton clothing store.

The Thirty-Threes are still hot over the 4-2 defeat at the hands of the Presidents last week, which they consider rather a lucky victory, and are more than anxious to redeem themselves.

All players came out of the game in good physical condition and the team expects to be in fine shape for Portsmouth this week-end.

BOWLING

Cool weather Wednesday night must have added zest to the arms of Xenia's mineralite pushers for the Xenia Bowling League match between McCurran Bros. and Artestons, resulting in a two out of three game victory for the latter, produced some of the best bowling of the season and saw one league record go by the boards.

McCurran Bros. won the first game 909 to 886 but dropped the other two by scores of 868 to 839 and 887 to 883.

Lee Regan set a new high single game mark for the league this season when he bunched enough strikes to roll 244 in his final game. Bauman, with a series of 615, was high man for the match.

M'KAY WINS PRESIDENT'S CUP BY DEFEATING SAYRE IN FINALS

Outstanding his opponent in one of the closest matches of the tourney, S. M. McKay, president of the Xenia Country Club, won the club golf championship for 1926 by defeating H. L. Sayre, four and three in the thirty-six hole final match Wednesday in the match play tournament. The tourney has been in progress a month.

Besides the honor going with the championship, McKay holds the unique distinction of having gained permanent possession of the president's silver loving cup, originally donated by him as the tournament prize.

The finals were played off Wednesday under the most trying weather conditions imaginable. A blistering cross wind made long and straight drives almost impossible while the fall grass and soggy turf detracted from the roll of the balls.

Nevertheless fine scores were recorded, the match ending on the thirty-third green. The play of both finalists sparked like carbonated water. Both players were about evenly matched with the final result determined by the "breaks" of the game.

At the end of eighteen holes played in the two morning rounds, McKay was three up. In the second eighteen in the afternoon, Sayre put up a stiffer battle and contested every hole played.

CLEAN KIDNEYS
BY DRINKING
LOTS OF WATER

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS IF BLADDER BOTH-ERS OR BACK HURTS
Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, for only 75 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

CLEAN KIDNEYS
BY DRINKING
LOTS OF WATER

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS IF BLADDER BOTH-ERS OR BACK HURTS
Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders.

FIRE PREVENTION Week

Make Your Home Safe

REPORT OF THE LOCAL FIRE DEPARTMENT

The largest single fire loss in Xenia during the last year was $2200. Several automobile fires were extinguished by the department. The department made a total of fifty-five runs during the year. The fire loss in this city this year is far below what it was in 1924-1925 when it totalled $57,424. Chief Hanfman says much of this year's record is due to "pure luck" but that the campaign which the department has waged throughout the year has borne good fruit. He asks the continued co-operation of the people of Xenia in making Xenia's fire hazard as low as it is possible to have it.

VAPORS
Colds

VAPORS reach a cold directly because they are breathed right into the air passages and lungs. It is for this reason that Vicks Vapo-Rub brings such quick relief. When rubbed over throat and chest at bedtime—

It is vaporized by the body heat and inhaled, while you sleep, right to the affected parts, loosening the phlegm and easing the difficult breathing.

At the same time it acts through the skin (like a poultice or plaster) "drawing out" the pain and soreness.

Most colds yield by morning to this double action of Vicks.

ONE can't feel well when there is a retention of poisonous waste in the blood. This is called a toxic condition, and is apt to make one tired, dull and languid. Other symptoms are sometimes toxic backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Many people have learned the value of Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, when the kidneys seem functionally inactive. Everywhere one finds enthusiastic Doan's users. Ask your neighbor!

PRESIDENT FORCED INTO CONTROVERSY
OVER PHILIPPINES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The president will shortly occupy the center of the stage in the never ending controversy over Philippine independence.

The Filipino legislators are determined to put to a popular vote in the islands the independence question.

Governor General Leonard Wood sternly vetoed the proposition. The legislature has now passed the referendum resolution a second time, which puts it over General Wood's head and squarely up to Mr. Coolidge. He has the last word, either of consent or veto.

The best guess is that he will back up his governor general and veto it. To approve it will be construed in the Philippines as a rebuke to General Wood and might well bring his resignation. To veto it, however, will expose Mr. Coolidge to the direct fire of those in this country who favor independence for the islands.

It is interesting to note that if the referendum should be permitted, the question will appear on the ballot in this form: "Are you in favor of complete, immediate and absolute independence of the Philippine Islands?" Under their law all answers other than a simple "yes" or "no" will be void. Women as well as men may vote—everyone over 21, without qualification or restriction.

Such a vote will, of course, be virtually unanimous for independence. But the referendum will be without legal effect—simply a "dead set" against holding it. He calls it a mock and futile proceeding.

KNIGHTS OBSERVE
COLUMBUS DAY HERE

Xenia Council, Knights of Columbus, will celebrate "Columbus Day," Tuesday, October 12, with a banquet at St. Brigid's Auditorium, when Harry E. Rice, editor of the Xenia Herald and Dr. W. A. Galoway, local physician, will be the main speakers.

One hundred and fifty people are expected to attend the banquet and program. The affair is open to the entire parish. James McCurran, grand knight, will preside and H. W. Walsh will be toastmaster.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by tuning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Keep Hair Tidy,
Keep It Curly

By Edna Wallace Hopper

Summer and winter my hair is ever curly. It is tidy, but fluffy. It has a glow. Yet I never visit a hairdresser, never have a Marcel wave.

Those results are due to a hair dress which great experts made especially for me. I apply it twice a week. It doubles the beauty of my hair in an hour. And that wave and sheen remain.

Now you can obtain the same product. All toilet counters supply it as Edna Wallace Hopper's Wave and Sheen. The price is 75c. My guarantee comes with each bottle, so you take no risk.

This is a delight—one of the best things I ever found for women, especially those with bobbed hair. In summer it is essential. Go try it now.

POST WAR ADJUSTMENT LIKE CIVIL WAR DAYS BANKERS ASSOCIATION LEARNS

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 7.—In a speech delivered this morning by Garrard B. Winston, undersecretary of the treasury to the American Bankers' Association convention he said in part:

"In peace times the United States does not resort to credit, but pays cash. Except for some relatively small borrowings to strengthen the currency and to build the Panama Canal, any national indebtedness has represented the price of war."

"After the Revolutionary War our foreign and internal indebtedness, which included the indebtedness of the States assumed by the Federal Government upon Alexander Hamilton's assistance, aggregated in 1790 some $71,000,000. The foreign debt was paid by 1815, and the entire debt retired by 1832. Figures as to the real burden of the debt are incomplete, since we have no satisfactory estimate of national wealth or of national income at that time, but when one remembers that we were then a new nation, poverty stricken, and with little industrial development, this reduction of debt represents a truly great effort."

"In the Civil War cycle, we find an interesting comparison with our situation today. We owed practically nothing when that war commenced. At its close the peak of the indebtedness was 2 3-4 billion. In 1914 our debt of about one billion was represented principally by bonds to secure national bank circulation. We reached the peak of 25 1-2 billion dollars in 1919. In the seven years after the Civil War the debt was reduced twenty-two per cent. In the seven years since 1919, that is to 1926, the debt has been reduced twenty-three per cent. $800,000,000 reduction then as against six billion dollars now, but still by this great accomplishment we have put no greater burden on the individual taxpayer since the last war than was done sixty years ago."

"Miss Legion"

Gernadine Harmon, 17, "prettiest girl in McCook, Neb.," is guest of McCook post of American Legion at national convention in Philadelphia, as result of part she played in enabling post to increase its membership 700 per cent in the year. This is Legion record.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Greene County Library has received valuable donations recently Elizabeth Galloway Macaulay has given sixty-five books that young people are eagerly taking from the shelves; they include: Aldridge's "The Meadow Brook" series; Stokes's "The Motor Maid" series; Morrison's "The Girls of Central High" series, and "The Moving Picture Girls,"—a series by Laura Lee Hope.

One of the last acts of the late Dr. Scarborough was the giving of his works to the case, containing writings of Greene County authors. Besides his "First Lessons in Greek Grammar," used widely in colleges, there are monographs of rare interest: "Birds of Aristophanes," "A Tribute to Col. Charles Young," "A Laurel Wreath For Paul Laurence Dunbar," "Wilberforce in the War," "The American Negro and His Mission," "Wilberforce Night," "Broken Silences," by Elizabeth White Frothingham has been presented by one of the members of the Library Board. This slender volume is vibrant with rare lyrics that make the reader echo "So the ideal may enshrine us round." In one group of poems, "Europe Before the War," "Memory with her weaving thread binds vagrant thought to years that used to be," and the dreamer breathes, "poesy's fragrance after poets pass." The charm of the child is

A Mystery! Mistake in Name Causes Riot, Hard Words among Friends! Hutch and Mack Bitter Enemies!

You read last week about how Hutch got a flock of gas stoves or heaters and how a bird in spats sold 'em to him and how Mack shoots the moon and fliggered there were too many stoves and how he OFFERS THESE STOVES AT COST!

You read THAT!

Well, the awful thing about that ad was that these gas heaters were called "QUADS" in this ad when as a matter of fact they were NOT Quads but were IRONTON BUNSEN BURNERS to be

SOLD AT COST!

The mystery is how the name happened to get changed in the paper!

Mack blamed Hutch, Hutch blamed Mack, Mack and Hutch blamed Beeler, Beeler blamed Keible and Beeler and Keible blamed Schultz when suddenly from this cyclone of hurtling accusations came the quiet, sweet tones of Miss McKay, who listening to the riot of words stated firmly:

"At ten minutes before time to go to press, last Thursday, a voice came over the phone asking if the words Ironton Bunsen Burners could be changed to Quads in the Greene County Hardware Co.'s ad!

"Naturally I rushed upstairs and in the exact nick of time was able to effect the change! I did NOT ask who the person was, as naturally I thought it was someone connected with the Hardware Company.

"I believe this explains WHY this ad carried the wrong name for these Gas Burners."

A great quiet settled on the milling, red-faced, bristling combatants and one by one they snuck back to their respective lairs!

NOW, the question is "WHO BALLED UP LAST WEEK'S AD?"

Everyone is worried! No one talks to anyone else! SOME one DID this, yet NO one seems willing to accept the honor (?) In the meantime the company wishes to say that these until they are all sold!

Jack Willlett blames the entire trouble on the baseball series coupled with the weather we've been handling.

Shorty Says:-

I've never met a more guilty looking crew in my life than these dudes around the store! I've got MY suspicion of who pulled this trick but not one word can yet get out of ME! A QUAD and an IRONTON are BOTH Gas Burners and THIS is the time of the year to USE 'em! The smart trick is to GET one before these birds RAISE THE PRICE back to normal. Whatta YOU care about a NAME.

Chapter XX

SOUTHWARD BOUND

Mary shopped for Florida in haste. With less than twenty-four hours' notice of departure, and the swift change of climate that lay before her, the matter was easy.

"Luella can fix you up with white kirts and sports clothes," Mrs. Wade said nonchalantly. "She'll end you anything you need."

But Mary Forrest would not dream of such a thing. Indebted to Luella Loder? No! Impossible!

"I'll get a few things myself," she went out into the New York streets that lay knee-deep in snow. Cutting winds blew like sharp knives. Faces were blue and green with cold.

How wonderful it would be, down south, if only Philip Andover could share it with her!

She had broken her accepted code, and actually dared to ring in to impart the news. He had been particularly anxious to learn the exact time of her train. That meant that he would come and see them off, didn't it?

She couldn't bear it, not to see him at the station.

That magic walk together! How he had enjoyed it.

But these days were not over. No, of course not.

She went to the shop that catered to the Florida trade, but found them exorbitantly expensive. "For millionaires!" Philosophically she set herself to the smaller stores. Her purchases were few. A rose pink sweater, and a tiny hat to match it. A plain little white silk dress of the "sports" variety. A little wrap, and a cheap but very pretty evening frock of pale pink satin, which was fashionable at the moment.

The train left at three-fifteen p. m. the following day.

Mrs. Wade fumed and fussed as the taxi, heavily laden, skidded and bumped through the New York traffic.

"Such congestion! We'll never make the train!"

The journey was to be broken in Carolina. There was a health resort that Mrs. Wade was fond of, and she planned for a few days' stop en route.

"Pinehurst is charming. It will be spring-time there. A delightful change after this awful weather." Although the taxi was heated, she shivered as a blast of snow rattled the window panes.

They reached Pennsylvania railway station, and a couple of red-topped negro porters took the luggage.

Such a vast, cathedral calm. Great, silent marble spaces! Mary looked about for Philip Andover. There was no sign of him. Had he forgotten?

They walked to the gates that led down to the trains. Hope died in her.

But he would write, of course?

Ah! would he?

Luella's theory of men—how quickly they forgot!

They found their seats in the luxurious Pullman coach. Tomorrow morning they would be at Pinehurst.

"Ah! now we're off," Mrs. Wade, beaming up to this moment, leaned back in her seat and relaxed.

Her little husband, notebook on knee, was scribbling busily. A new idea had just come to him and he must jot it down before it evaded him.

"Luella's got the part in that new film they're going to make in Cuba. Big salary. She needs it. I never knew such a girl to get in debt."

Mrs. Wade shook her head from side to side as though to say "I sympathize with her."

"She is lucky," observed Mary, "feeling that something was expected of her, but not knowing quite what she should say."

"Well, she wasn't so lucky over that good-looking young Andover. Such a disappointment, his losing that estate! It would have been the very thing for our Luella. She's like a salamander. Loves the heat. And such a social queen she'd have been, if everything had gone the way we expected it. But there's never any knowing." Luella's aunt heaved a lugubrious sigh.

"It was hard on Mr. Andover," ventured Mary timidly.

"Oh! him? Uh-ha. Maybe. Though I never thought he was as wild about Luella as she did."

Mary's heart beat in a suffocating fashion. She half turned her head away, so that her employer's wife might not see the hot flush that had arisen to her face.

"Nice fellow!" proceeded the other carelessly. "But now he'll have to marry money. Well, there'll be lots of girls willing and ready to take him, poor as he is. I call him very likeable. Don't you?"

Mary murmured something.

"And Luella's making hay while the sun shines, with that Australian fellow," went on the communicative lady. "Though I feel as though there was something fishy about him. She's determined to bring him to the point. But if anything better turns up, she'll throw him over. That's Luella."

The train ran with muffled sound over the river, then out into the Jersey plains. The throb of the wheels seemed dirge-like in the ear of Mary Forrest. She was leaving Philip. And he had not even come to see her off.

Mrs. Wade was restlessly moving in her seat.

"Where's the push-button? I want a manicure. My hands look awful." She summoned a Pullman porter.

Presently a colored maid in uniform appeared, bearing a little basin full of soap water and the necessary implements. She had a tiny camp-stool with her, and seated herself beside the restive lady, placing the latter's plump hands on a linen cushion in her lap.

Mary regarded the flying landscape. She was in a mood of poignant wistfulness.

Would Philip write? Dare she write first?

There was talk, now, of her employer going on to Cuba. If so, wasn't there a definite chance that Philip and she might meet in that enchanted island? But oh! the weary waste of time that lay between!

She tried to read a magazine. But it was hard to concentrate. Mrs. Wade kept up a running chatter in an undertone.

The hours wore on. The Pullman was oppressively overheated. Darkness was on the landscape, with confused bright lights and signs appearing and disappearing. The long wail of the locomotive had an echo in the heart of Mary Forrest. Instead of being thrilled by this unexpected trip to warmer climes, her heart was heavy.

Towards eight o'clock they went into the restaurant car, and had a Southern dinner of fried chicken and waffles and cornmeats.

And at nine, when they returned to their compartment, it was to find the seats had magically disappeared, the Pullman porter being in the trick-act of converting the said seats into "sleepers."

Mrs. Wade was grumbling. She had grumbled all the afternoon, and she was still grumbling when the train slid into Washington.

Mary went to the doorway and looked out. Quaint little wooden steps were being placed against the train. The fresh air, icy cold, blew gratefully against her heated forehead.

"All aboard for the Florida express," the dusky conductor was calling out.

Men and women hurried forward. Mary had to press back a little in the darkness of the doorway, letting the newcomers pass.

Something familiar in the set of a pair of shoulders made her heart give one mighty leap and pound suffocatingly. It couldn't be! Oh, no! He was in New York City.... Then the one voice in the world she wished to hear beat on her ears like sweetest music.

"Mary! Mary Forrest!"

"How—oh, how did you get here?" Her heart opened with joy. Her pretty eyes were wide with wonder and amazed, incredulous delight.

He laughed and caught her hand in his. Philip Andover at that moment was a man that almost any girl could love, his usually serious face illuminated with boyish happiness and mischief, and a warm look in those handsome eyes of his that answered hers.

"I came to Washington last night late. I'd business here this morning. Thought I'd surprise you."

"But—"

"And aren't you surprised Mary?"—his voice sank a little, with a sort of rough tenderness—"aren't you just a tiny bit pleased to see me?"

"Y—yes. Oh, yes." Her voice shook. "But this train isn't a New York one. Its southward bound."

"And so am I." Again that boyish laugh of his, so winning. "I'm on my way to Florida and Cuba. You won't throw me off the train, will you? You'll let me stay?"

"I call this mighty pleasant," remarked Mrs. Cyrus Wade with unexpected affability, when her husband's secretary appeared with Philip Andover, and the quartette moved down the aisle to some vacant seats that had not yet been converted into beds. "We're stopping off tomorrow morning at Pinehurst, in Carolina, and I'm hoping you will give us the pleasure of your company for the few days that we're there?"

Philip hesitated for the fraction of a moment. He flung a quick glance at Mary Forrest's face.

"For a couple of days, maybe—if I shouldn't be intruding on your party?"

"Charmed, I'm sure."

Cyrus was of little use in traveling and really a handsome fellow like young Andover was quite an asset. Mrs. Cyrus liked young men. Odd how quiet the little secretary had grown! The girl was shy, of course. Odd, too, how the young man looked at her, with a warm sort of light in those dark eyes of his! It couldn't be, that after the scintillating star, Luella, he was seriously interested in this simple girl?

And yet—how pretty Mary Forrest looked tonight! Such a soft flush on those rounded cheeks of hers. A nice girl—and a good girl. But neither of them had any money.... That ended matters, didn't it?

Mary Forrest climbed the ladder to her Pullman "upper." It was nearly eleven o'clock, and the snore of her employer, Cyrus Wade, came from the berth immediately below her own. They had a joint curtain, buttoning neatly down the middle. The Wades' half was closed, and Mary slipped neatly up the ladder, disappearing into her upper berth.

Her head hit the curved ceiling. How on earth could she address in this cramped space?

The extraordinary publicity of sleeping arrangements on the railway trains! All in the one coach, men and women, and only a thin curtain dividing you from the center aisle!

People walked up and down the aisle, groping for their berths. A button was missing from Mary's curtain and through the tiny aperture she saw a man's feet protruding from a "lower," kicking off his boots into the aisle. A garment followed, with a muffled expletive a hand shot out and snatched it in again!

Amusing, wasn't it? But quaint! She got undressed and into bed, her clothes neatly stowed away in the hammock.

Then Philip Andover came up the aisle, the Pullman porter with him. He hadn't booked a berth, but the upper one across the aisle from Mary's was vacant. Lying in darkness with her light switched off, Mary saw him go up the ladder and disappear behind his curtains. "Like chickens in a hen roost!" She could almost have leant across the space and touched his curtains. Near...so near!

HOOGLIGAN GANGS IN GLASGOW CAUSING REIGN OF TERROR

EDINBURGH, Oct. 7.—Gang hooliganism has broken out in a new type—has broken out in Glasgow.

Gangs of young men armed with razors, parade the streets of the city seeking whom they may devour. As a rule they do not attack ordinary law-abiding citizens, but go out after gangs of young men similar to their own.

These gangs are highly organized and have recognized leaders. They have a social life all of their own. They pool all their financial resources for the purpose of paying fines when inflicted. The main object of each is to wipe out opposition gangs.

At the moment there are two gangs in the "East End" of the city which attract most public attention. One is the "Bully-Boys" supposed to be composed of Orangemen from Belfast; they are waging war on the "Norman Conks" who are Roman Catholics. But the existence of these supposed religious differences is doubtful. They are merely an excuse for fighting.

It is only lately they have taken to the use of the razor. In this the favorite method is to make a quick upward slash to the body and rapidly drag the flesh back from the cut. Before, this, the old weapons were the bare fist and the knuckleduster. One gang, the "Redskins" during the war, made great play with the weighted leather throng. But whatever weapons they use, these gangs have made themselves a terror to the police of the city as well as to one another.

Observers attribute the periodical outbursts of hooliganism in Glasgow to the horrible housing conditions of the city—a state of affairs which the local authorities are doing their best to remedy.

In the workshops the young men are usually well-behaved and, as often as not, strict prohibitionists. But his days work done, he has to find his pleasure on the streets—streets that are dull and drab and demoralizing.

The whole situation presents a difficult problem for Glasgow's social reformers and psychologists.

MAZER LOSES MOTION TO CHANGE VENUE FOR TRIAL

Jury Will Be Drawn Immediately To Try Alleged Slayer Of Canton Publisher—Studer Sentenced.

CANTON, O., Oct. 7.—The jury which will try Louis Mazer for the murder of Don R. Mellett will be drawn today.

The last obstacle to the trial was removed last Wednesday afternoon when Judge Edwin W. Diehl overruled a motion for a change of venue to take the case into an adjoining county.

Judge Diehl said:

"I find nothing in the affidavits and exhibits to indicate that the defendants have been prejudiced. Motions in the Mazer case and the Rudner case will be overruled and exceptions allowed."

Both of the defendants were in court to receive the decision.

FORMER TELEGRAPH OPERATOR WITNESS IN M'PHERSON CASE

District Attorney Finds New Evidence For Hearing

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—The preliminary hearing of Mrs. A. J. Sample McPherson, her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, and Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sellaf, all charged with criminal conspiracy, will be resumed today.

While the militant evangelist was enjoying a respite from the rigors of the hearing yesterday, District Attorney A. J. Keyes and his assistants were gathering new evidence with which to confront Mrs. McPherson, whom they claim perpetrated a gigantic hoax when she alleged she had been kidnapped and spirited away to Mexico while her follower, thought she was drowned while swimming at Ocean Park last May.

The state attempted to prove that she was not kidnapped; that she was the companion of her former radio operator, Kenneth G. Ormiston, at Carmel subsequent to her disappearance from Ocean Park; and that she offered Mrs. Sellaf money to produce a "Miss X" to pose as Ormiston's companion.

Another important witness for the prosecution was unearthed by the prosecution yesterday. He is F. A. Bliven, a former telegraph operator at Gila, Ariz. Bliven is said to have stated in his testimony that he saw a woman resembling Mrs. McPherson sent a telegram from his station to a man in Douglas, Ariz., on June 15, eight days before Mrs. McPherson made her reappearance.

Alonso B. Murchison, Douglas police officer, who was on the stand when court adjourned Tuesday, was slated to resume the stand again today. Murchison was the first officer with which Mrs. McPherson talked after crossing the Mexican border. Following their conversation, Murchison said he returned to Mexico, where he unsuccessfully sought to check up Mrs. McPherson's story.

PROTESTS TAKING OF YOUTH'S LIFE

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Pleading that no crime could justify the taking of the life of a youth whose mind is not yet formed, Ernest K. Coulter, general manager of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty, has sent a letter to Governor Howard Gore, of West Virginia, urging that the life of Adam Burress, 15, of Welch, W. Va., be spared. Burress has been sentenced to hang for an assault upon a nine-year-old girl.

Coulter admitted knowing nothing of the case except what he had read in the newspapers. He said, however, to hang a fifteen-year-old boy would constitute a "retrogression to the tactics of the seventeenth century."

Coulter called the attention of Governor Gore to the laws of New York state, which recognizes juvenile delinquency as the only offense committed by children.

The Belmont county team won the right to represent Ohio by a victory in a contest at the Ohio State Fair. The boys are all residents of the Barnesville district.

JUSTICE MARSHALL ASKS COMMON PLEAS JUDGES FOR ACTION

Wants Dockets Rid Of Untried Felony Cases At Once

COLUMBUS, Oct. 7.—Declaring that "speedy criminal justice has become imperative," because of the "unbearably frequent" crimes committed, Chief Justice C. H. Marshall, of the Ohio supreme court here, today issued a proclamation to the common pleas judges throughout the state urging them to take prompt measures to clear the court dockets of untried felony cases as soon as possible.

He announced that, if the services of additional judicial officers are required in any county to speed up disposition of these cases, he will assign judges from other counties to help clear the dockets.

Chief Justice Marshall directed the attention of the judges to the "crimes of murder, robbery, burglary and personal assaults upon men and women which have become unbearably frequent throughout the country."

"The parties who commit these crimes appear to be without fear of the penalties provided by law," reads Marshall's proclamation.

"Evidently, this boldness and sense of security in wrongdoing arises out of the law's delay, supplemented often by the mistaken and unwarranted sympathy for criminals on the part of paroling and pardoning officers."

"An extraordinary situation calls for extraordinary action."

"It is high time that the trial and reviewing courts should give precedence to criminal cases, to the end that prompt, vigorous and effective action may be taken to rid society of these classes of criminals and that law-abiding citizens may realize and enjoy the protection and safety which the law contemplates."

"Murder is on the increase. Highway robbery, frequently accompanied by serious personal assaults, has made the highways of our state unsafe for travel after nightfall. Banks, mail trains and payroll messengers are frequently victims. No constitutional safeguards should be violated by speedy criminal justice has become imperative."

Marshall pointed out that his assertions have no application to some counties in Ohio.

THREE INJURED IN WRECK ON PENNSY

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 7.—Two persons were seriously injured and eight more slightly hurt when two coaches of a Pennsylvania passenger train were derailed at Black Creek, four miles north of Cuba, in Cattaraugus County, this morning.

The accident occurred at 7 o'clock this morning. A broken rail was the cause.

The two derailed coaches toppled into the old Genesee canal bed. The injured were taken from the wrecked car and removed to Cuba for treatment.

PLANS TO ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT SOON

BELGRADE, Oct. 7.—The engagement of Mary Landon Baker and Count Bozidar Pouritch, Serbian secretary to the Jugoslav foreign office, will be announced on Saturday, it was reliably reported here today.

The Chicago heiress has been in Belgrade for several days and has almost constantly been seen in the company of Pouritch, who at the time represented his country in the consular office in Chicago.

LABOR DELEGATES VOICE BITTER PROTEST AGAINST ACTION OF DETROIT BUSINESS MEN

DETROIT, Oct. 7.—Renewal of the acrimonious denunciation of Detroit manufacturing interests over the closing of Detroit pulpits and the Y. M. C. A. to union labor speakers next Sunday marked the opening of today's session of the American Federation of Labor convention.

With one more speaker to be heard, the convention was prepared to vote on a resolution giving emphatic protest to the action on the part of Detroit business interests.

The overnight "recess" had not tended to dampen the determination of the delegates to deal with this situation without gloves and to put organized labor unmistakably on record of what it thinks of the matter.

For two hours last yesterday afternoon the convention listened to some of its most vigorously militant leaders attack the action of the Detroit board of commerce. This action, in effect, was branded as coercion of the churches and religious agencies of the city in an effort to prevent the organization of 700,000 industrial workers here.

The climax of this session came

Misery Follows Floods

INCREASED RISE OF RIVER STOPS RAIL TRAFFIC; ONE DEAD

Beardstown People Travel By Boats On Main Streets

BEARDSTOWN, Ill., Oct. 7.—A new flood stage record was set here today when the Illinois river reached a stage of 25.6 feet, six inches higher than the crest of the devastating flood of 1922. Eleven hundred additional acres of land are under water, following crumbling last night of the Kelly Lake levee north of this city.

BEARDSTOWN, Oct. 7.—Misery, privation and desolation stalk the water-stricken streets of Beardstown today as the flood waters rush into the city with renewed fury, trying up railroad traffic and causing serious breaks in gas, telephone, electric light and water mains.

Main streets are teeming with boats of all description, the only available method of transportation. Storms and rains caused the Illinois river to rise to a height unequalled in the annals of this city.

Desperate fights of railroad officials proved futile today when the flood waters swept over the tracks making all rail communication with St. Louis impossible and tying up the tracks to Frederick, Ill., on the west line.

The river today rose above the 25.1 foot mark of 1922, making the current flood the most serious in the history of the city.

Death entered the flooded region today when Mrs. C. E. Soule died of pneumonia, contracted as a result of the inundation, physicians stated.

Chill winds from the east added to the misery. That the entire city will be under water within a few hours is the prediction of Forecaster Hayes, of St. Louis.

The peak of the rise will occur Saturday, it was stated.

Every business house in the city is flooded.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—James A. (Bud) Stillman, Jr., son of James A. and Anne U. Stillman, Princeton student, is engaged to marry Miss Lena Wilson, 18-year-old daughter of a Scotch-Canadian wood-cutter. Miss Wilson is now employed as a maid in the Grand Anse, Quebec, lodge of Mrs. Stillman. They expect to be married soon after "Bud" graduates from Princeton, in June.

Young Stillman, who is in his twenties, himself announced the engagement from Princeton early today. He described his fiancée as blonde and beautiful. His announcement was made following news of the betrothal given out in Canada by his mother, who is now staying at the Grand Anse lodge. Bud said he expected his mother and Miss Wilson to come to New York sometime before November 15th.

"Mother has already announced our engagement in Canada," young Stillman said. "Lena, you know, works in my mother's home in Canada and it was there I met her. She helps mother in a general way."

"We plan to marry in the spring, after my graduation. I don't know what the plans are after that."

"I met Lena in Canada when I first went up there, seven years ago. She lives in the next house from mother's place. It is about three miles away. I spent this summer up there and saw Lena just before I came down from Canada."

Thus the son of the couple whose marital difficulties were fought through one of the bitterest and most sensational divorce trials in the history of American divorce courts summed up the story of his romance amid the scenes which figured so prominently in his parents' divorce trials.

The present match is said to have the wholehearted approval of both Mr. and Mrs. Stillman. Bud's mother, in an announcement to the press referred to Miss Wilson as "my little woods daughter." The girl has long been a favorite of her future mother-in-law, who is now said to be preparing her for her entry into New York society this winter.

Through the marriage, Miss Wilson will become related to the socially powerful families of Wm. G. Rockefeller, Percy Rockefeller and Henry P. Davidson. Bud is a brother of Mrs. Henry P. Davidson. Davidson is a son of the late partner of J. P. Morgan.

TREASURER OF BUTLER COUNTY PAYS SHORTAGE IN ACCOUNTS

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 7.—Alleged shortages totaling $1,378.25 are included in the findings for recovery contained in the report, made public here today by State Auditor Joseph Tracy, covering an examination of the records of Butler County public officers.

Stanley P. Kinzer, who, as county treasurer, was held responsible for the alleged deficits, is credited in the report with having paid the $1,378.25 after the amounts due had been determined by State Examiner R. H. Smith, who conducted the examination.

The examination covered the period from October 13, 1923, to September 1, 1925. The alleged shortages consisted of a cash deficit of $1,097.24 and deficits in the county's general tax fund amounting to $281.01.

Kinzer has had a very unfortunate administration during the period covered by this report," declared Examiner Smith.

"He was absent from office for over a year, due to serious illness. The system of permitting four or five persons to handle the moneys has been disastrous under this administration."

Smith, in his report, held that "the hundreds of dollars which disappeared" could only be charged against the treasurer.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7.—A single score in the last half of the fourth frame gave the St. Louis Cardinals a one-run lead on the New York Yankees in the fifth World Series game here this afternoon.

Penneck tossed out Hornsby at first but Bottomley doubled to left and scored on Bell's single. Babe Ruth distinguished himself on the second out by taking Hafey's fly with one hand by reaching over the barrier to the left field stands.

CARDS SUPPORTERS CONTINUE LOYALTY BUT REMAIN QUIET

Yanks Favorites In Betting—Penneck To Meet Sherdel

By DAVIS J. WALSH
ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7.—Hitting being a cumulative proposition not unlike the downhill rolling of a snowball or failure to wash behind the ears, the New York Yankees stepped into the light of day this morning into a strangely, if not ominously, quiet town and found themselves with a lot of overnight friends for the fifth game of the series with the St. Louis Cardinals. The Yanks didn't hit the size of a wedding-ring finger through the first three games.

But, as far as that went, it was possible that Johnston was short of water before the flood.

Anyhow, the Yankees, having given a splendid exhibition of the Butz manual of arms, so dear to the arms of the average sergeant-major, were carried with the tide that rushed along behind the inspired progress of Babe Ruth yesterday, and today the boys thought so well of their chances that they wouldn't lay one dollar against ninety-nine cents that the Yankees would finish where everyone had consigned them only twenty-four hours before.

For today's game, in fact, they ruled a 6 to 5 favorite, largely because the pulsant Mr. Penneck was due to labor in the vineyard of the Yanks. Herbert left-handed

MINERS REJECT PEACE PROPOSALS

LONDON, Oct. 7.—The miners delegate conference faced a difficult alternative today when reports from the district vote on the government's peace proposals showed that they had been rejected.

This action left the delegates without a policy and the cabinet will withdraw its plan if it is not accepted.

An order continuing the strike would be disastrous, it was felt, and also ineffective, as the men are returning to the pits in large numbers, and yet the leaders hesitate to act against the vote.

The delegates met in Kingsway hall to discuss the situation.

RE-APPRAISAL ADDS MUCH TO VALUATION

CANTON, O., Oct. 7.—Valuation of Canton property is increased approximately $60,000,000 and that of Stark County is boosted $110,000,000 by reappraisal of real estate, according to tentative figures made public today by Miss Ruth Kaufman, county auditor.

This increase makes possible reduction of the Canton city tax rate from 24.8 mills to 20.9 mills and, at the same time, adds $136,000 to the fund available for operating expenses of the city and $369,000 to the funds for operating expenses of the city schools.

TRUCK DERAILS TWO CARS AT CINCINNATI

CINCINNATI, Oct. 7.—About 100 persons narrowly escaped injury when two Cincinnati-Newport, (Ky.) street cars were derailed on the central bridge here today.

The cars, proceeding from opposite directions, were forced against steel girder guards when a heavy truck, according to a report made to police, tried to drive between them.

The bridge is one which spans the Ohio river at this point.

SUN SHINES WHEN ST. LOUIS MOURNS

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7.—The sun came out bright and radiant again today, flooding this baseball-mad town with a warmth somewhat more comfortable than yesterday's scorching atmosphere. While the weather here is subject to instant changes and many clouds grow where none had grown but a few minutes before, the predictions of perfect weather for today appeared to have been borne out.

ROYAL VISIT WILL RESULT IN SWEDISH GALLERY IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Visit to America recently by the democratic Crown Prince Gustafus Adolphus of Sweden and his charming wife, Princess Louise, is to result in the establishment of a permanent Swedish art gallery in Chicago, culture center of this country's mid-west, where many residents are of Swedish descent.

During the visit of the titled visitors to Chicago an art exhibition, made possible by the courtesy of western collectors, was visited by the prince and attracted wide attention among Chicago Swedes.

Chicago and its suburbs already hold a large number of paintings from the leading Swedish artists of all times and a drive for gifts for the proposed museum will be launched shortly.

In Evanston, Ill., there are several portraits by Anders Zorn, including a full-length portrait of this city's world-known social leader, Mrs. Potter Palmer. Another Zorn is that of Ira Nelson Morris, former United States minister to Sweden.

There are numerous other portraits by Zorn made at the time he visited America more than thirty years ago.

Chicago boasts several originals and numerous copies of the art of Christian Erickson, noted sculptor of the little northern land.

Other Swedish artists and sculptors are well represented in the mid-west and northwest, early settlers in America having brought to this country some excellent examples of Swedish art. In Illinois and Minnesota wealthy Americans of Swedish descent have recently purchased paintings representative of the best in the modern art of Sweden.

A special room in the Art Institute here has been proposed as the site of the Swedish art center.

The temporary exhibit arranged in Chicago in honor of the Crown Prince will shortly be taken down and when the paintings and other exhibits are returned to their owners, requests will be made for gifts to the proposed permanent exhibit. A generous response is expected by backers of the movement.

FORTY WANT JOBS ON SCHOOL PAPER

Forty students are competing this year for places on the 1926-27 Central Hi Review staff but the selections have not yet been completed by Miss Lois Grigsby, faculty member.

Miss Evelyn Perrill, beginning her third year on the staff, has been made editor-in-chief for the coming year. She is a senior and was assistant editor in 1925-26.

Edgar Routzong, senior, is the new business manager with Ahler Earley and John Prugh both juniors, his assistants.

The remainder of the staff has not been chosen but will be selected from the forty prospects.

The "Review", a four-page school paper published twice a month, chronicles all athletic and scholastic activities of the four classes.

Peterson's Ointment rid me of piles so quickly that I was astonished. I felt somewhat peevish, however, to think that I had suffered so many years before knowing what a wonderful remedy Peterson's Ointment is. Let me thank you from the bottom of my heart."—John O'Leary.

FACTORY DAMAGED BY $200,000 FIRE

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 7.—Fire of undetermined origin which broke out early today in the factory of the White Sewing Machine Co. here, caused damage estimated at $200,000 before it was brought under control after a spectacular battle by firemen.

A three-alarm call sent all down town apparatus to the scene, where the flames virtually wrecked two upper stories of a six-story structure housing the veneering and machine-shop departments.

Two large sulphur tanks in the glue department spread noxious gases, which greatly handicapped the firemen. Two fire tugs steamed into Cuyahoga river opposite the factory and aided in battling the flames.

LIQUOR CONTROL IN CANADA IS FAILURE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Government liquor control in Canada has been a failure, Ernest A. Grant, assistant research secretary of the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, declared today.

He was sent to Canada to investigate the liquor control system, which has been praised by numerous wets in America as a satisfactory prohibition problem.

OHIO FARMERS LOSE HEAVILY BY RAINS

CLEVELAND, Oct. 7.—Losses to farmers which may total in the millions of dollars are being caused in Ohio by unseasonable rains and low temperatures, according to reports pouring in today.

Cuyahoga County already reports damage of $100,000 done to various crops, grapes being the chief sufferer. Corn is so sodden that doubt is expressed whether it will mature properly.

With predictions for more rain in many parts of the state, the future of the potato crop seems hopeless, according to truck farmers. This is somewhat compensated for, however, by the large amount already harvested and which was stored because of unusually low prices.

CLEANLINESS ABOVE STYLISHNESS

By HEDDA HOYT
NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—This article is not written for the perusal of the well-groomed woman with whom cleanliness and daintiness is inborn. Unfortunately there are many persons who might benefit by the following suggestions which were inspired by a tour through one of New York's smartest department stores where the Elite and near-Elite rub elbows, gowned in the height of fashion but emanating aromas combining perfumes, hair-oils, ancient dress-sheds and perspiration.

After a trip in a closely-packed elevator filled with women one often emerges with a disreputable odor of human race. Rancid hair-oils and gowns which reek with the odors of their soiled linings force one to believe that many women must depend upon a dab of perfume to cover unclean physical conditions. There is no reason why the human hair should emit an unpleasant odor. Oily hair requires frequent washing. Hair-oils combined with the natural oils emerging from the pores of the scalp become rancid and unless one washes the hair frequently it is better not to use them.

Dress-sheds and underbodies of dresses should be cleaned whenever they are the least bit soiled. Many women will wear a dress an entire season without having it cleaned. The lining comes in contact with the body just as an undergarment does. One would not think of wearing an undershirt a season without washing it but one will wear a dress-lining until it is sick with bodily oils.

Perfumes applied to dresses and allowed to dry, mingle their odors with sweaty physical odors and become most repugnant. Perfumes should never be applied directly to the clothing but to the neck, the lobe of the ear or the chin. There are perfumes which "sick" with their sweetness. One should dislike having a friend who reeked of hyacinths from morn till night. Talcum powders, perfumed bath salts and faint toilet waters are far preferable to heavy perfumes although the person who keeps the body and clothing scrupulously clean does not even require these faint odors. The fresh smell of soap and water is quite sufficient. Let us remember that the human nose is a very sensitive organ and guard against being aromatically distasteful!

RUTH CALLED HIS SHOTS—HOMER OR NO COUNT

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7.—When Ruth went to left field after hitting his third home run, he gestured toward the bleachers as an indication of where his next hit was going. He was calling his shots. In other words, he was playing home run or no count.

Rhems' slow ball that Ruth waited into the centerfield stands was a large laugh. The ball wasn't exactly slow; it was tedious.

Well, anyhow, the Cards found out who was NOT going to pitch during the next three games.

Ruth played absolutely no favorites. His first homer off Rhems was hit on a curve inside. His second off the same pitcher came on a slow ball, or whatever it was. The third, off Herman Bell, was off a fast ball.

Incidentally, his first cleared the right field wall right on the foul line. His second cleared the stands in right center and his third fell in the bleachers in dead center field.

Hoyt gained the easiest decision in the record of world series play. He pitched a bad ball game and won a perfectly good victory.

Funny what a difference a few hours can make. It was no trick at all to sleep in St. Louis last night.

At that, a lot of the boys have been guilty of wise cracks about Sportsman's park. No fans could have been fairer to a visiting club than the local addicts have been to the Yankees. They were absolutely sold on Ruth after he hit his second homer, and after he hit the third, the park was his.

Koenig, apparently, is a short stop who can go far to his right and not at all to his left. He gets everything in back of third base and misses everything around second.

If the Yankees win, and even the most biased observers are willing to grant now that this chance is by no means overemphasized, they will be the most unbalanced club that ever won a world's title. They have a shortstop who kicked them far and from a very difficult angle and a center fielder who couldn't throw a man out from the pitcher's box.

Coombs had a chance to throw a man out on a sacrifice fly to the immediate rear of the infield and made a very accurate throw to third base.

The Yanks ran the bases like the headless horseman of Ichabod Crane's fond fancy. Otherwise they would be scoring yet.

A playing manager can not think and play ball at the same time. When the Yanks finally were in front so far that all hope had fled John McGraw remarked: "If I were Rogers, I would rest O'Farrell now." But the man who had caught more than 145 games this season remained in the lineup to the end.

The second-guessers, in fact, enjoyed an excellent afternoon. Many of them felt that Hornsby had erred in removing Rhem at such an early moment, particularly with Hoyt going so badly. A second-guesser will be wrong one of these days and they'll simply have to close up all the haberdasheries.

L. Bell's stop that caught Ruth going the wrong way off third base was a Lulu. Either that or a Lillian.

CHANGES IN MONEY

The flat, round coins of today have withstood the test of centuries and yet they are relatively an innovation when one considers how long man has been using money.

Coins have not always been flat and round. There was a time when they were made in many odd shapes and at many different sizes. The first coins were crude lumps of metal bearing simple stamps. For the most part, these primitive coins were globular in general form, but they gradually became flatter and more circular. The absolute flatness of the two sides, so that all raised parts should wear uniformly, apparently was not a major consideration until relatively modern times.

Oriental mints produced most of the coins of odd shapes but Europe and even the United States offer curious specimens. Bar money is peculiar to Java and Ceylon where the denomination is determined not by the metal but by the size of the bar. Siam makes its money by beating out odd shapes from silver ingots. A certain species of Siamese money is called "bullet money."

Sweden, during the Seventeenth and Eighteenth centuries, made coins from large flat copper plates bearing several stamps and weighing as much as 48 pounds and ranging in diameter from one to two and a half feet. India continues to use square coins.

One of the most eccentric of coins is the Persian wire money. This currency is cut from wire in various shapes and sizes. It has been facetiously dubbed "fish-hook money."

THE SPIRIT OF '61

The nation is happy in the knowledge that the Grand Army of the Republic, meeting in annual convention in Des Moines, turned itself firmly against those influences that would have brought about its disbandment. It is pleased with the thought that this great organization, though dwindling steadily in numbers as death decimates its ranks, is still intact and carrying on.

The Grand Army of the Republic has been a vital factor in the affairs of the nation for so many years, and to feel it was no longer present would bring with it a feeling of emptiness.

There is no organization which will ever take its place. The American Legion comes to take up the work where the Grand Army is leaving it off, but the Grand Army has occupied a unique place in American history such as no organization ever has or will hold.

Back in the dark days of civil strife it was the boys in blue who bared their breasts to those forces that sought to destroy the Union, and who by their devotion and their sacrifice saved the Union.

For 60 years since that war these same boys, now grown gray and stooped with the years, have stood as the firm defenders of that Union which they saved, and have been for the nation a veritable bulwark of patriotism.

The years have cut their ranks. But time has not dimmed the enthusiasm, the patriotism, the indomitable will to uphold every worthwhile cause that is in the interests of a stronger Americanism and a better citizenship.

The Grand Army of the Republic still has many years of active service left before it. At Des Moines it declared its intention of going forward despite its fast thinning ranks.

In that decision the nation will rejoice, for the nation, were it to have its will, would have the Grand Army of the Republic continue on and on, with never a disbandment. It would have it go forward until the last man was left, and then let him have a convention all his own, a parade all his own, and let there sound in his ears the plaudits of his countrymen who can never forget the debt that is owing to that great host which under Lincoln, saved the Union and sounded the doom of slavery forever.

CROSS WORD PUZZLE SUBSTITUTE

Berliners are said to have dropped the cross-word puzzle to juggle with mathematics. A simple problem in arithmetic has engaged the attention of those who have idle time to dispose of to such an extent that the problem has become of "How Old is Ann."

The game is to ask one to set down the year of one's birth, to this add his age, the date of his marriage and the number of years married. The sum in every instance, no matter to whom applied, will be 3852. It does not take much to amuse some people, and when you couple it with something with reference to one's age, especially if the subject is a woman, it becomes thrilling. There is nothing cabalistic about this problem, but at first sight it looks uncanny.

Spain's most recent revolution seems to have consisted of a right-about-face, that led right out of the league of nations.

FADS OF THE FAMOUS

Governor Vic Donahey has a hobby which has stood to good advantage on more than one occasion.

The Ohio executive can justly lay claim to being an excellent cook. Governor Donahey can bake pies, cakes, cookies, and all the other delicacies usually considered a woman's handiwork.

During the summer months when the governor and his family spend most of their time at their summer home, the governor holds sway in the kitchen. So far, he has managed to appease the appetites of his family, consisting of his wife and eleven children.

It has become a yearly custom and almost a tradition for Governor Donahey to "throw" a party for statehouse newspaper correspondents and their families.

Turtle soup has been the piece de resistance at these dinners given by the governor. No one but the governor himself is allowed in the kitchen on these occasions.

He not only prepares the entire meal for the fifty odd visitors, but usually takes the pies for dinner and usually has some culinary surprise which he serves up for "immediate release" to the newspapermen.

Governor Donahey has been interested in cooks and kitchens

CHILD'S KNITTED SWEATER

To knit a slip-over sweater for a little girl between three and four years old, buy five balls of white and one ball of colored shetland floss. Use a pair of number three bone needles and a pair of number three and one-half bone needles.

Back: With the three and one-half needles and colored yarn, cast on eighty-three sts. K four rows plain, four rows white, four rows of color, eight-rows of white. Continue with white, working in the following pattern: Row One: * K five, P one, repeat from * ending row K five. Row Two: * P five, K one, repeat from * ending row P five. Row Three: same as row one. Row Four: same as row two. Row Five: Same as Row One. Row Six: Knit plain.

Repeat these six rows till work measures eleven inches from start, then increase one stitch at each end every other row three times.

Next, cast on fifteen stitches at each end three times, then six stitches at each end for sleeves (191 sts). Continue pattern and when sleeves measure four inches at widest part, work first eighty-five sts. off onto a stitch holder and bind off twenty-one stitches for neck. On remaining eighty-five sts. start front.

Front: Increase one st. at neck end every other row twenty-one times and when sleeve measures six and one-half inches at wrist bind off same as cast on, then decrease one stitch at under arm every other row three times. Work other side this far. Work across one front, cast on three sts., work across other front, and with all sts. on one needle finish front to correspond with back.

Cuffs: With white yarn and the number three needles, pick up forty stitches at end of sleeve. K plain for fourteen rows, then with wrong side of work K four rows of color, four rows of white, four rows of color, and bind off.

With the number three and one-half needles and right side of work, pick up sts. around neck on both fronts. Knit plain, decreasing one stitch at center front on every row, working four rows white, four rows color, and then binding off. Pick up sts. at back of neck. Work same and bind off.

This sweater pattern is that of a series of squares, very attractive in appearance.

IMMENSE GAS PLANT WILL SUPPLY FUEL FOR CONNECTICUT

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 7.—A nine million dollar plant to supply gas to the entire state of Connecticut and fuel throughout New England is in prospect on the water front here, according to plans announced by the Koppers Company, of Pittsburgh, Pa., which has set Connecticut "by the ears" during the summer.

Working quietly for nearly three years the Koppers Company acquired fifty acres of harbor side property and set about controlling gas companies in the state. Their plans became public knowledge when the Koppers Company, this fall, acquired ownership of the New Haven Gaslight Co., largest in the state, for a price that astonished stockholders of the local concern.

Gas companies in Bridgeport, Waterbury, Hartford, and Springfield, Mass., are reported as being sought by the new corporation which is preparing bills for the next legislature at Hartford, which will be asked to grant the most extensive series of franchises sought in the state since the days when the New Haven Railroad under Charles S. Mellen was given enormous powers.

Under the announced Koppers Co. plans gas and coke will be manufactured here in enormous quantities. Gas will be piped everywhere in the state and stored in tanks of local gas companies for community use. The coke is intended for use in New England manufacturing plants so as to avoid bringing coal into New England, as much as possible.

PIONEER'S DRESS

"The hunting shirt of the early pioneer was generally made of linsey, sometimes of coarse linen, and a few of dressed deer skins. These last were cold and uncomfortable in wet weather. The shirt and jacket were of the common fashion. A pair of drawers, or breeches, and leggings were the dress of the thighs and legs; a pair of moccasins answered for the feet much better than shoes. These were made of dressed deer skin.

"They were mostly made of a single piece, with a gathering seam along the top of the foot and another from the bottom of the heel, without gathers, as high as the ankle joint or a little higher. Flaps were left on each side to reach some distance up the legs. These were nicely adapted to the ankle and lower part of the leg by throngs of deer skin, so that no dust, gravel or snow could get within the moccasin.

"The moccasins in ordinary use cost but a few hours' labor to make. This was done by an instrument denominating a moccasin awl, which was made of the back spring of an old clasp knife. This awl with its buck-horn handle, was an appendage of every shot pouch strap, together with a roll of buckskin for mending the moccasins. This was the labor of almost every evening. They were sewed together and patched with deer skin throngs, or whangs, as they were commonly called.

"In cold weather the moccasins were well stuffed with deer's hair or dry leaves, so as to keep the feet comfortably warm; but in wet weather it was usually said that wearing them was "a decent way of going barefooted," and such was the fact, owing to the spongy texture of the leather of which they were made.

"Owing to this defective covering of the feet, more than to any other circumstance, the greater number of our hunters and warriors was afflicted with the rheumatism in their limbs. Of this disease they were all apprehensive in cold or wet weather, and therefore always slept with their feet to the fire, to prevent or cure it as well as they could. The practice unquestionably had a salutary effect, and prevented many of them from becoming confirmed cripples in early life."

UNIVERSAL BEAUTY

Beauty wanders here and there scattering her treasures rare. Finding many a hidden place To enrich with tender grace. Hill and valley, field and lane Hear the rustling of her train.

Artists paint her now and then, Sometimes lines which poets pen Carry something of her voice. That the wide world may rejoice, But her magic is revealed By the daisy in the field.

Now she lingers by a tree, Lights a vessel far at sea. Tints a hill-top, sets the moon Shimmering on a lake in June. Spills her lovely tears at dawn Just to glorify a lawn.

Never place so dim and far But above it shines a star. Never man so sordid quite But finds something of delight Something in this world which he Thrills with happiness to see.

Modish Mitzi

IT'S NOT THAT MITZI IS ROMANTIC!

lay V. Jav

Wearing a sort of diving helmet of black satin Mitzi prepares for a dampsy day of sightseeing. She has come to Niagara to see the Falls, of course, but also to see the brides. Not that she's romantic, but that brides have such smart clothes!

Preparing earnestly for the coming trip to the Cave of the Winds Mitzi diligently powders her nose with her new collapsible shaving brush powder puff that hides itself in a tiny clasp of galathea. (It impresses the Goofer as a gallant though useless gesture.

The bride in the first sketch has added an appropriate accessory to her costume by wearing one of the new sea flower boutonnières. It is in tinted pearl effect with brine-sprayed foliage of silver. Mitzi admires it almost as much as she does the scenery.

"Another bride," thinks Mitzi and feels her interest in the scenery dwindle. Because after all the Falls have been here quite a while, but the little tan hat with feathers of ribbon for trimmings about as new as anything can be and scenery enough for her! Tomorrow—More Scenery And More Fashions

OF
New York

By Jack O'Donnell

Rain always brings out the taxi parasites—young kids who ride the running boards of cabs on wet nights and prey on innocents.

The cab refuses to stop unless the prospective customer shows a flash of silver; and the urchin refuses to open the door unless he relieves you of the silver. It's pay as you enter and pay as you leave both.

Money buys most anything in Gotham—even a taxi on a bad night. The parasite is often in "cabots" with the driver, and splits fifty-fifty on the pre-fare he collects. Just a form of Broadway banditry. But one submits cheerfully to any hold-up for the sake of getting in out of the drizzle on nights after the theater.

Starvation is no longer popular among literary and artistic beginners in New York. For every dreamy Bunthorne in Greenwich Village, there are a hundred intent young souls who set their alarms for seven a. m. and trudge bravely forth each morning to a hundred diverse niches in the throbbing world of business.

They turn their hand to whatever pursuit offers, a weekly pay envelope. They sell books, they write cinema subtitles, they edit house organs, they paint greeting cards, they work in libraries, in courts, in the city rooms of newspapers, in the research department of banks.

Commerce feeds art under the skies of Manhattan. In every city block, in every office building, at the other end of every phone call, is a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

At nine o'clock a young artist sits down to a drawing board in an advertising agency. He sketches a layout for a shaving soap ad. At nine o'clock a young writer sits down to a desk in a publicity office and writes a blurb for a movie actress.

They do the bidding of their boss. They take phone calls. They talk shop. They speak the language of commerce. Slowly the long day comes to a close. At six o'clock, when the charwomen creep into the office and start emptying waste baskets and shining cuspidors, these young workers drift away into the subway. Later—if only one might look into the myriad little rooms and apartments to which they have returned! Here's the artist—the one who did the soap ad! He's bent over a canvas. His eyes are bright although he knows that in a few hours the alarm will ring again. Here's the writer—the blurb monger. Clad in slippers and bathrobe, he burns the midnight mazda over a few scrawly lines of verse, dearer than life itself.

Thus does the great city feed the faithful—feeds their bodies through the bright, clicking noons, feeds their spirit in the soft night.

New York is the Paris of North America.

Women make annual pilgrimages from cities as far removed as New Orleans to the shrine of the shoppers—Broadway and 34th Street.

The Fire Department closed Macy's the other day—there were too many women per square inch of floor space for the public weal. The doors remained closed for one hour until the jam had been relieved.

There was a time when the American woman, including the New York damsel, bowed down and worshipped the Paris frock. There is still something just a little holy about the French creation, but it is fast losing ground. At a recent sale, in an exclusive women's shop, it was the New York models rather than the importations that caused the greatest stir and made the biggest dents in famous checking accounts.

The Theatre

Cecil B. DeMille, noted director and producer, has completed selection of actors to portray the Twelve Apostles in his story of the life of Christ, "The King of Kings."

Judas Iscariot will be played by Joseph Schildkraut; Peter by Ernest Torrence; John the beloved disciple by Joseph Striker and Matthew the publican by Robert Edeson. DeMille wanted Charlie Ray for the role of John, but was unable to complete negotiations for the borrowing of Ray from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

The recent staging of Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" in the great national amphitheater known as "Hollywood Bowl" was the most pretentious experiment in outdoor theatricals ever attempted, according to officials of the Hollywood Art League, which sponsored the show. Many stage and screen stars played in the production. William Farnum took the role of "Marc Antony"; James Gordon had the part of "Caesar"; R. D. McLean, "Brutus"; Gareth Hughes, William Humphreys and Lionel Belmore played "Octavius Caesar"; "Cassius," and "Cicero" respectively. Belle Bennett was in the role of "Portia" and Julianne Johnston was the baccanal. Over 50,000 persons witnessed the two performances.

PROPOSED LEAGUE EXPECTED TO HELP SCHOOL ATHLETICS

Better Understanding Will Be Promoted Is Belief

Formation of a high school athletic association among schools of Western Ohio to be known as the Miami Valley League of High School Athletics, is expected to promote a better feeling and understanding in athletic relations between high schools in this section that will eventually become members.

Such is the intention of its sponsors, according to Principal Spencer Shank, of Central High School, who has been made secretary of the league. Announcement of the proposed league was made by Principal Shank Wednesday.

It is proposed to confine membership for the present to seven schools including Xenia Central High. Other teams will be invited later to join and the names of Eaton and Bellefontaine being mentioned, it is declared that the latter city is outside the narrow circle of schools that will become members and in order to maintain a close organization it is planned to keep the league's territory as compact as possible.

The object of the new athletic body is to make possible a regular schedule of athletic events which will later include track and field events as well as basketball and football. Under the proposed by-laws, there will be at least five games on the schedule of all league members in every class of sport. From these records would be compiled and championships in the different sports awarded.

Another meeting of the temporary organization will be held at Troy about December 1, or as soon as possible after the close of the football season when permanent organization can be effected.

The league cannot function until the fall of 1927 and then probably only in football as nearly all the teams in this section of the state have already arranged football schedules for next year.

Baseball is not mentioned in the future activities of the league. It is believed that few schools would be represented by teams as the games must of necessity be played early in the spring when many of them are uncertain and few would be able to complete season schedules.

The new organization is designed as a progressive step among western Ohio high schools. Other leagues are being formed and the hope cannot be scattered that it may be possible not only to develop championships in the various leagues but to determine the final championships in the various sports by arranging contests between league winners.

THIRTY THREES TO GREET PORTSMOUTH IN HOME BAILIWICK

Face to face with the necessity of putting more punch in the offensive and additional defensive power in the line, the Thirty-Threes intend to engage in stiff scrimmage rehearsals Thursday and Friday evenings at Cincinnati Ave. Park in preparation for the return game with the Portsmouth Presidents at Portsmouth Sunday afternoon.

Incessant rains interfered with the eleven's regular practice Tuesday night so that the rehearsals were postponed until Thursday and Friday. All players intending to make the trip to Portsmouth must report for practice on these two nights at 7 o'clock, it is announced.

A bus has been chartered to convey the squad to Portsmouth leaving Xenia between 7:30 and 8 a. m. Sunday. If as many as fifteen others wish to accompany the team, a second bus will probably be engaged. These fans should first leave their names at the Tilton clothing store.

The Thirty-Threes are still hot over the 6 to 0 defeat at the hands of the Presidents last week, which they consider rather a lucky victory, and are more than anxious to redeem themselves.

All players came out of the game in good physical condition and the team expects to be in fine shape for Portsmouth this weekend.

BOWLING

Cool weather Wednesday night must have added zest to the arms of Xenia's mineralite pushers for the Xenia Bowling League match between McCurran Bros. and Artestions, resulting in a two out of three game victory for the latter, produced some of the best bowling of the season and saw one league record go by the boards.

McCurran Bros. won the first game 909 to 886 but dropped the other two by scores of 865 to 839 and 887 to 883.

Lee Regan set a new high single game mark for the league this season when he bunched enough strikes to roll 244 in his final game. Bauman, with a series of 615, was high man for the match.

M'KAY WINS PRESIDENT'S CUP BY DEFEATING SAYRE IN FINALS

Outstanding his opponent in one of the closest matches of the tourney, S. M. McKay, president of the Xenia Country Club, won the club golf championship for 1926 by defeating H. L. Sayre, four and three in the thirty-six hole final match Wednesday. The tourney has been in progress a month.

Besides the honor going with the championship, McKay holds the unique distinction of having gained permanent possession of the president's silver loving cup, originally donated by him as the tournament prize.

The finals were played off Wednesday under the most trying weather conditions imaginable. A blistering cross wind made long and straight drives almost impossible while the fall grass and soggy turf detracted from the roll of the balls.

Nevertheless fine scores were recorded, the match ending on the thirty-third green. The play of both finalists sparkled like carbonated water. Both players were about evenly matched with the final result determined by the "breaks" of the game.

At the end of eighteen holes played in the two morning rounds, McKay was three up. In the second eighteen in the afternoon, Sayre put up a stiffer battle and contested every hole played.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, for only 75 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it cures so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.—Adv.

CLEAN KIDNEYS BY DRINKING LOTS OF WATER

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS IF BLADDER BOTH-ERS OR BACK HURTS

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders.—Adv.

REPORT OF THE LOCAL FIRE DEPARTMENT

The largest single fire loss in Xenia during the last year was $2200. Several automobile fires were extinguished by the department. The department made a total of fifty-five runs during the year. The fire loss in this city this year is far below what it was in 1924-1925 when it totalled $57,424. Chief Hanftan says much of this year's record is due to "pure luck" but that the campaign which the department has waged throughout the year has borne good fruit. He asks the continued co-operation of the people of Xenia in making Xenia's fire hazard as low as it is possible to have it.

Vapors stop Colds

VAPORS reach a cold directly because they are breathed right into the air passages and lungs. It is for this reason that Vicks VapoRub brings such quick relief. When rubbed over throat and chest at bedtime—

It is vaporized by the body heat and inhaled, while you sleep, right to the affected parts, loosening the phlegm and easing the difficult breathing.

At the same time it acts through the skin (like a poultice or plaster) "drawing out" the pain and soreness.

Most colds yield by morning to this double action of Vicks.

ONE can't feel well when there is a retention of poisonous waste in the blood. This is called a toxic condition, and is apt to make one tired, dull and languid. ## PRESIDENT FORCED INTO CONTROVERSY OVER PHILIPPINES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The president will shortly occupy the center of the stage in the never ending controversy over Philippine independence.

The Filipino legislators are determined to put to a popular vote in the islands the independence question.

Governor General Leonard Wood sternly vetoed the proposition. The legislature has now passed the referendum resolution a second time, which puts it over General Wood's head and squarely up to Mr. Coolidge. He has the last word, either of consent or veto.

The best guess is that he will back up his governor general and veto it. To approve it will be con-

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.

Keep Hair Tidy, Keep It Curly

By Edna Wallace Hopper

Summer and winter my hair is ever curly. It is tidy, but fluffy. It has a glow. Yet I never visit a hairdresser, never have a Marcel wave.

Those results are due to a hair dress which great experts made especially for me. I apply it twice a week. It doubles the beauty of my hair in an hour. And that wave and sheen remain.

Now you can obtain the same product. All toilet counters supply it as Edna Wallace Hopper's Wave and Sheen. The price is 75c. My guarantee comes with each bottle, so you take no risk.

This is a delight—one of the best things I ever found for women, especially those with bobbed hair. In summer it is essential. Go try it now.

POST WAR ADJUSTMENT LIKE CIVIL WAR DAYS BANKERS ASSOCIATION LEARNS

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 7.—In a speech delivered this morning by Garrard B. Winston, undersecretary of the treasury to the American Bankers' Association convention he said in part:

"In peace times the United States does not resort to credit, but pays cash. Except for some relatively small borrowings to strengthen the currency and to build the Panama Canal, any national indebtedness has represented the price of war."

"After the Revolutionary War our foreign and internal indebtedness, which included the indebtedness of the States assumed by the Federal Government upon Alexander Hamilton's assistance, aggregated in 1790 some $71,000,000. The foreign debt was paid by 1815, and the entire debt retired by 1832. Figures as to the real burden of the debt are incomplete, since we have no satisfactory estimate of national wealth or of national income at that time, but when one remembers that we were then a new nation, poverty stricken, and with little industrial development, this reduction of debt represents a truly great effort."

"In the Civil War cycle, we find an interesting comparison with our situation today. We owed practically nothing when that war commenced. At its close the peak of the indebtedness was 2 3/4 billion. In 1914 our debt of about one billion was represented principally by bonds to secure national bank circulation. We reached the peak of 25 1/2 billion dollars in 1919. In the seven years after the Civil War the debt was reduced twenty-two per cent. In the seven years since 1919, that is to 1926, the debt has been reduced twenty-three per cent. $600,000,000 reduction then as against six billion dollars now, but still by this great accomplishment we have put no greater burden on the individual taxpayer since the last war than was done sixty years ago."

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Greene County Library has received valuable donations recently. Elizabeth Galloway Macaulay has given sixty-five books that young people are eagerly taking from the shelves; they include: Aldridge's "The Meadow Brook" series; Stokes's "The Motor Maid" series; Morrison's "The Girls of Central High" series, and "The Moving Picture Girls,"—a series by Laura Lee Hope. One of the last acts of the late Dr. Scarborough was the giving of his works to the case, containing writings of Greene County authors. Besides his "First Lessons in Greek Grammar," used widely in colleges, there are monographs of rare interest: "Birds of Aristophanes," "A Tribute to Col. Charles Young," "A Laurel Wreath For Paul Laurence Dunbar," "Wilberforce in the War," "The American Negro and His Mission," "Wilberforce Night," "Broken Silences," by Elizabeth White Frothingham has been presented by one of the members of the Library Board. This slender volume is vibrant with rare lyrics that make the reader echo "So the ideal may enshrine us round." In one group of poems, "Europe Before the War," "Memory with her weaving thread binds vagrant thought to years that used to be," and the dreamer breathes, "poesy's fragrance after poets pass." The charm of the child is

A Mystery! Mistake in Name Causes Riot, Hard Words among Friends! Hutch and Mack Bitter Enemies!

You read last week about how Hutch got a flock of gas stoves or heaters and how a bird in spats sold 'em to him and how Mack shoots the moon and figgered there were too many stoves and how he OFFERS THESE STOVES AT COST!

You read THAT!

Well, the awful thing about that ad was that these gas heaters were called "QUADS" in this ad when as a matter of fact they were NOT Quads but were IRONTON BUNSEN BURNERS to be

SOLD AT COST!

The mystery is how the name happened to get changed in the paper!

Mack blamed Hutch, Hutch blamed Mack, Mack and Hutch blamed Beeler, Beeler blamed Kelbie and Beeler and Kelbie blamed Schultz when suddenly from this cyclone of hurtling accusations came the quiet, sweet tones of Miss McKay, who listening to the riot of words stated firmly:

"At ten minutes before time to go to press, last Thursday, a voice came over the phone asking if the words Ironton Bunsen Burners could be changed to Quads in the Greene County Hardware Co.'s ad!

"Naturally I rushed upstairs and in the exact nick of time was able to effect the change! I did NOT ask who the person was, as naturally I thought it was someone connected with the Hardware Company.

"I believe this explains WHY this ad carried the wrong name for these Gas Burners."

A great quiet settled on the milling, red-faced, bristling combatants and one by one they snuk back to their respective lairs! NOW, the question is "WHO BALLED UP LAST WEEK'S AD?"

Everyone is worried! No one talks to anyone else! SOME one DID this, yet NO one seems willing to accept the honor (?) In the meantime the company wishes to say that these until they are all sold!

Jack Willett blames the entire trouble on the baseball series coupled with the weather we've been handling.

Shorty Says:-

I've never met a more guilty looking crew in my life than these dudes around the store! I've got MY suspicion of who pulled this trick but not one word can yet get out of ME! A QUAD and an IRONTON are BOTH Gas Burners and THIS is the time of this year to USE 'em! The smart trick is to GET one before these birds RAISE THE PRICE back to normal. Whatta YOU care about a NAME.

Chapter XX

SOUTHWARD BOUND

Mary shopped for Florida in frantic haste. With less than twenty-four hours' notice of departure, and the swift change of climate that lay before her, the matter wasn't easy. "Luella can fix you up with white shirts and sports clothes," Mrs. Wade said nonchalantly. "She'll end you anything you need."

But Mary Forrest would not dream of such a thing. Indebted to Luella Loder? No! Impossible! "I'll get a few things myself," she went out into the New York streets that lay knee-deep in snow. Putting faces blew like sharpest knives. Fences were blue and green with cold.

How wonderful it would be, down south, if only Philip Andover could share it with her! She had broken her accepted code, and actually dared to ring him up to impart the news.

He had been particularly anxious to learn the exact time of her train. That meant that he would come and see them off, didn't it?

She couldn't bear it, not to see him at the station. That magic walk together! How he had enjoyed it.

But these days were not over. No, of course not.

She went to the shop that catered to the Florida trade, but found them exorbitantly expensive. "For millionaires!" Philosophically she set back her head and smiled at the moment.

Her purchases were few. A rose-pink sweater, and a tiny hat to match it. A plain little white silk one of the "sports" variety. A little wrap, and a cheap but very pretty evening frock of pale pink satin, which was fashionable at the moment.

The train left at three-fifteen p. m. the following day. Mrs. Wade fumed and fussed as the taxi, heavily laden, skidded and bumped through the New York traffic.

"Such congestion! We'll never make the train!"

The journey was to be broken in Carolina. There was a health resort that Mrs. Wade was fond of and she planned for a few days' stop en route.

"Pinehurst is charming. It will be spring-time there. A delightful change after this awful weather." Although the taxi was heated, she shivered as a blast of snow rattled the window panes.

They reached Pennsylvania railway station, and a couple of red-topped negro porters took the luggage.

Such a vast cathedral calm. Great, silent marble spaces!

Mary looked about for Philip Andover. There was no sign of him. Had he forgotten?

They walked to the gates that led down to the trains. Hope died in her.

But he would write, of course? Ah! would he?

Luella's theory of men—how quickly they forgot!

They found their seats in the luxurious Pullman coach. Tomorrow morning they would be at Pinehurst.

"Ah! now we're off," Mrs. Wade, leaping up to this moment, leant back in her seat and relaxed.

Her little husband, notebook on knee, was scribbling busily. A new idea had just come to him and he must jot it down before it evaded him.

"Luella's got the part in that new film they're going to make in Cuba. Big salary. She needs it. I never knew such a girl to get in debt," Mrs. Wade shook her head from side to side as though to say "I sympathize with her."

"She is lucky," observed Mary, "even that something was expected of her, but not knowing quite what she should say."

"Well, she wasn't so lucky over that good-looking young Andover. Such a disappointment, his losing that estate! It would have been the very thing for our Luella. She's like a salamander. Loves the heat. And such a social queen she'd have been, if everything had gone the way we expected it. But there's never any knowing." Luella's aunt heaved a lugubrious sigh.

"It was hard on Mr. Andover," ventured Mary timidly.

"Oh! Him? Uh-ha. Maybe. Though I never thought he was as wild about Luella as she did."

Mary's heart beat in a suffocating fashion. She half turned her head away, so that her employer's wife might not see the hot flush that had arisen to her face.

"Nice fellow!" proceeded the other carelessly. "But now he'll have to marry money. Well, there'll be lots of girls willing and ready to take him, poor as he is. I call him very likeable. Don't you?"

Mary murmured something.

"And Luella's making hay while the sun shines, with that Australian fellow," went on the communicative lady. "Though I feel as though there was something fishy about him. She's determined to bring him to the point. But if anything better turns up, she'll throw him over. That's Luella."

The train ran with muffled sound under the river, then out into the Jersey plains. The throb of the wheels seemed dirge-like in the ear of Mary Forrest. She was leaving Philip. And he had not even come to see her off.

Mrs. Wade was restlessly moving in her seat.

"Where's the push-button? I want a manicure. My hands look awful!" She summoned a Pullman porter.

Presently a colored maid in uniform appeared, bearing a little basin full of soap water and the necessary implements. She had a tiny camp-stool with her, and seated herself beside the restive lady, placing the latter's plump hands on a linen cushion in her lap.

Mary regarded the flying landscape. She was in a mood of poignant wistfulness.

"Would Philip write? Dare she write first?"

There was talk, now, of her employer going on to Cuba. If so, wasn't there a definite chance that Philip and she might meet in that converted into beds. "We're stopping off tomorrow morning at Pinehurst, in Carolina, and I'm hoping you will give us the pleasure of your company for the few days that we're there?"

Philip hesitated for the fraction of a moment. He flung a quick glance at Mary Forrest's face.

"For a couple of days, maybe—if I shouldn't be intruding on your party?"

"Charmed, I'm sure." Cyrus was of little use in traveling and really a handsome fellow like young Andover was quite an asset. Mrs. Cyrus liked young men. Odd how quiet the little secretary had grown! The girl was shy, of course. Odd, too, how the young man looked at her, with a warm sort of light in those dark eyes of his! It couldn't be, that after the scintillating star, Luella, he was seriously interested in this simple girl?

And yet—how pretty Mary Forrest looked tonight! Such a soft flush on those rounded cheeks of hers. A nice girl—and a good girl. But neither of them had any money. . . . That ended matters, didn't it?

****

Mary Forrest climbed the ladder to her Pullman "upper." It was nearly eleven o'clock, and the snores of her employer, Cyrus Wade, came from the berth immediately below her own. They had a joint curtain, buttoning neatly down the middle. The Wades' half was closed, and Mary skipped neatly up the ladder, disappearing into her upper berth.

Her head hit the curved ceiling. How on earth could she address in this cramped space?

The extraordinary publicity of sleeping arrangements on the railway trains! All in the one coach, men and women, and only a thin curtain dividing you from the center aisle!

People walked up and down the aisle, groping for their berths. A button was missing from Mary's curtain and through the tiny aperture she saw a man's feet protruding from a "lower," kicking off his boots into the aisle. A garment followed, with a muffled expiatory hand shot out and snatched it in again!

Amusing, wasn't it? But quaint! She got undressed and into bed, her clothes neatly stowed away in the hammock.

Then Philip Andover came up the aisle, the Pullman porter with him. He hadn't booked a berth, but the upper one across the aisle from Mary's was vacant. Lying in darkness with her light switched off, Mary saw him go up the ladder and disappear behind his curtain.

"Like chickens in a hen roost!" She could almost have leant across the space and touched his curtains. Near... so near!

of paying fines when inflicted. The main object of each is to wipe out opposition gangs.

At the moment there are two gangs in the "East End" of the city which attract most public attention. One is the "Billy-Boys" supposed to be composed of Orangemen from Belfast; they are waging war on the "Norman Conks" who are Roman Catholics. But the existence of these supposed religious differences is doubtful. They are merely an excuse for fighting.

It is only lately they have taken to the use of the razor. In this the favorite method is to make a quick upward slash to the body and rapidly drag the flesh back from the cut. Before, this, the old weapons were the bare fist and the knuckleduster. One gang, the "Redskins" during the war, made great play with the weighted leather throng. But whatever weapons they use, these gangs have made themselves a terror to the police of the city as well as to one another.

Observers attribute the periodic outbreaks of hooliganism in Glasgow to the horrible housing conditions of the city—a state of affairs which the local authorities are doing their best to remedy. In the workshops the young men are usually well-behaved and, as often as not, strict prohibitionists. But his days work done, he has to find his pleasure on the streets—streets that are dull and drab and demoralizing.

The whole situation presents a difficult problem for Glasgow's social reformers and psychologists.

"I ADVISE all expectant mothers to use Mother's Friend," writes Mrs. Wesley Miller, Hudson, Mich. "I have had nine children. With my first three I suffered for 24 hours. Beginning with the fourth I used Mother's Friend and was sick only 15 minutes. Since then I have had five and was only sick about 10 minutes with each."

Mother's Friend is the formula of an eminent physician and has been a positive blessing to thousands of expectant mothers for over three generations. Used daily, externally, it soothes the nerves and muscles as month follows month. Finally it makes childbirth a joy!

The mothers who praise Mother's Friend the most are those who did not use it with their first baby but through its use with the second, were able to realize its almost unbelievable results.

Mother's Friend, on Mother's Friend—the same as used by our mothers and grandmothers—don't wait—start using today—and meanwhile write Bradford Regulator Co., Dept. 34, Atlanta, Ga., for free valuable booklet "Motherhood and the Coming Baby" (sent in plain envelope). It tells how Mother's Friend can help you during expectancy and at childbirth. This booklet also tells you many other things you want to know. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all druggists everywhere.

NO ANSWER FROM HORACE HOOK YET? DID YOU TELL HIM I WAS STUCK IN JAIL TILL WE HEAR FROM HIM?

YES, I TOLD HIM YOU HAD TO HAVE HIS WORD THAT THE CAR IS RIGHTFULLY OURS NOW

THIS PIGEON-HOLE AIN'T ANY TOO PLEASANT TO SIT AROUND IN WHILE THAT RATHERED IS MAKING UP HIS MIND ABOUT ANSWERING A SIMPLE TELEGRAM.

SINCE MRS. GULF LEFT TO BE AT THE TRIAL, I'VE SAT AROUND ALL ALONE AT THE PALACE HOTEL. BUT THEY DO SERVE NICE MEALS.

MEALS! WHY MUST YOU MAKE A CRACK LIKE THAT, WHEN I'M JUST GETTING ON TO THE TRICK OF SOAKING BREAD IN WATER SO IT'LL TASTE LIKE SOMETHING ELSE.

TIME'S UP, LADY.

I'M SO SORRY, DEAR.

CERTAINLY WE SEND MEALS OUT OF THE DINING-ROOM, MADAME. THE PALACE HOTEL PIONEERED THAT PRACTICE. BUT OF COURSE YOU WERE JESTING ABOUT CELL 13. YOU MEAN ROOM 13. OUR ROOMS ARE SMALL.

I MEANT CELL 13. THAT'S WHERE MY HUSBAND IS. IT'S IN THE ANNEX BEHIND THE CITY HALL.
